Britain May Start Big Movement From Palestine In Jan.

LONDON (CP)—The Foreign Office said today that Britain's evacuation of Palestine probably will begin on a large scale in January or early February, and continue several months.

It was reliably forecast that the British government will tell the United Nations either Wednesday or Thursday the exact date when she will start withdrawing her 100,000 troops from the Holy Land.

The cabinet will meet tomorrow to discuss the United Nations' Assembly resolution to partition the Holy Land.

Preparations for the evacuation were speeded up today, and the next major decision is the date on which Britain ends her League of Nations mandate. This will probably be some months before the final military evacuation, due to be completed Aug. 1.

Official quarters emphasized today that the military withdrawal will be as impartial as possible. Arabs have been apprehensive that Jewish districts might be evacuated first, leaving the Jews free to organize themselves while British troops still maintain security in Arab districts.

Everything possible will be done to avoid military conflict with the Arabs during the transition period. This was one more reason why Britain was likely to speed up withdrawal plans so as to reduce to a minimum the period in which British troops might be involved in armed clashes.

Speculation meanwhile arose that King Abdullah might seek to incorporate Arab Palestine into Trans-Jordan and, as a consequence of British support, might give Britain rights to bases in the port of Jaffa in Arab Palestine.

An authoritative source said Britain is discussing with Abdullah's Kingdom the possibility that its Arab legion might police the Arab part of partitioned Palestine after Britain lays down her mandate.

Sponsors Charge Advantage Taken Of Sunday Act

A concert, sponsored by the Victoria branch of the Federation of Russian-Canadians and to have been held in the Club Sirocco Sunday night, was canceled because it conflicted with blue laws here.

The cancelation followed representations by the city police.

While officials said that there had been rumors that the concert which was to feature voices of Canadians of Russian origin was canceled because proceeds of the sale of tickets was to go to Soviet war orphans, this was denied here today.

Officials said that the cancelation was necessary because the price of admission was printed on the tickets, thus making the concert illegal.

The tickets were printed in Vancouver.

The cancelation was described here today as a misunderstanding which had resulted because of the language barrier between some of the officers of the branch in Victoria. It was reported that the problem was soon cleared up.

Members of the Federation of Russian-Canadians said today that "certain groups" had taken advantage of the Lord Day Alliance Act to halt the show in Victoria.

An effort was made by the organization to obtain the name of the person or persons who brought objections before the police but so far no one has been identified. The Lord's Day Alliance Society said it had nothing to do with preventing the show from appearing in Victoria.

Plans are being made to hold the concert here later but not on a Sunday.

Truck Crashes House, 4 Escape Injury

BURNABY, B.C. (CP) — Four persons were injured and two escaped injury today when a three-ton truck crashed into two suites in a house on Marine Drive here.

Police said I. F. Jamieson, the truck owner; Frank Kolosky and William Quiring, truck passengers, all of New Westminster, were injured, as well as Mrs. George Douglas, who suffered minor injuries when the vehicle crashed into her suite.

Out of control, the truck roared down the hill at 55 to 60 miles an hour. The two front rooms of the suites were a shambles and the truck was demolished.

Stage Protest Strikes

BEYROUTH, Lebanon (AP)—Strikes were declared today at all schools here, including the American University, protesting the partition of Palestine. Students demonstrated throughout the day, shouting: "Palestine is Arab!"

Woman Named As 'Girl Friend' By General Testifies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Mildred Lamarre, who has denied she was ever the "girl friend" of Maj.-Gen. Bennett E. Meyers as Meyers claimed, today went before a grand jury investigating the former air force officer's wartime business deals.

Nervously, Mrs. Lamarre told reporters just before entering the grand jury room to give secret testimony:

"Nothing like this ever happened to me before."

Arriving with Mrs. Lamarre to testify before the grand jury was her husband, Bleriot H. Lamarre.

During a Senate investigation of Meyers, Lamarre testified the army officer was the real owner of a wartime aviation subcontracting firm, Aviation Electric Co., Dayton, Ohio, and received $150,000 from it. Lamarre said he was only its "dummy" president.

The two-star general told the Senate committee he established the firm and made Lamarre its president because Mrs. Lamarre was his "girl friend," a story Mrs. Lamarre labels as "lies, all lies."

Manslaughter Charge In Vancouver Death

VANCOUVER (CP) — James Boyd Miller, 32, Vancouver, was charged with manslaughter Sunday night in connection with the death of George Bolt, 45-year-old logger.

Bolt was found lying unconscious on an east end Vancouver street early Sunday. He died en route to a hospital. Police said Bolt had apparently been badly beaten.

Hundreds Apply For Sweep Tickets

LONDON (Reuter) — While hundreds of applications are being made for tickets in a proposed £2,000,000,000 ($8,000,000,000) international lottery to aid Britain, the organizers are awaiting the opinion of Prime Minister Attlee and Opposition Leader Winston Churchill.

South Africa and Switzerland are among the countries from which letters of inquiry have come to the City of London business men and bankers who are planning the draw.

If the government approves the lottery—none for state purposes has been approved by the government for more than 100 years—and if it takes place Britain will benefit by £1,000,000,000 which the organizers say will put her on her feet again. The other £1,000,000,000 subscribed would go in prizes, with £100,000 ($400,000) as the first prize. So far no indications have been given of the cost of the tickets.

Gulfstream Park Meeting Blows Up

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Gulfstream Park will close after today's eight-horse winter horse race inauguration because of a deadlock between track officials and horsemen over bigger purses, President James Down declared.

Down said the Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Association had rejected a compromise proposal he submitted and "Gulfstream Park has no recourse except to close its doors."

Big Game Tension No Legal Excuse

TORONTO (CP)—Fans' post-game hysteria after the Winnipeg Blue Bombers' magnificent try Saturday for the Dominion Football championship was Tim Buckley's defence today when he appeared in court on a charge of assaulting James Campbell.

Campbell testified that after Toronto Argos had won the game, 10 to 9, spectators were shouting that Winnipeg should have won and he did so, too.

"I got a whack in the eye. My glasses were broken and I had to go to hospital for treatment," he said.

Buckley was fined $50 or 30 days, despite defence counsel T. B. Horkin's plea that his client didn't realize what he was doing.

"Why, even big men over 200 pounds broke down and cried under the nervous tension," declared Horkin.

New Base Being Established In Marshall Isles

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States armed forces are working on plans to protect the civilian population from the two newest and deadliest forms of warfare, atomic and germ attack. attack.

(At Honolulu Lt.-Gen. John E. Hull was disclosed today as commander of a joint task force of the armed services which will conduct energy experiments at a new base being established on Eniwetok in the Marshall Islands.

(Creation of the atomic proving grounds was announced in Washington by the atomic energy commission, the State Department and the Defence Department.

(So closely-kept had been the secret that even close friends of Gen. Hull were surprised to learn today that he had been chosen to head the task force.

(For more than two months he had been setting up his command organization without a whisper having reached outsiders.)

The report of a five-man board of generals on civic defence of the United States, a project originally started as an army study, has been completed. After perusal by the navy, air force and other interested agencies, it has been turned over to Defence Secretary Forrestal.

REPORT SECRET

The report at present is classified as secret. It is understood, however, that part of the bulky documents is concerned with explaining the problems involved and the possible fundamental changes in laws and national economy needed to set up a program for protection against modern mass destruction methods.

Such questions as dispersal of industry and populations to reduce casualties arising from atomic or bacteriological warfare should not properly be the decision of the armed forces, military men point out.

Secrecy surpassing that surrounding the atomic bomb has been thrown about the subject of bacteriological warfare. However, those familiar with the project point to at least three major factors to be considered in defence against germ warfare:

1. Early detection of the planting of toxic agents in the air, in water supplies, in crops, among livestock.

2. Immunization (if the agent is such that immunization is possible) against spread by epidemic from the deliberately-planted source of infection.

CALMNESS NEEDED

3. Allaying of panic created either by the actual dissemination of germs or by the mere rumor that such a secret attack by an enemy has been made.

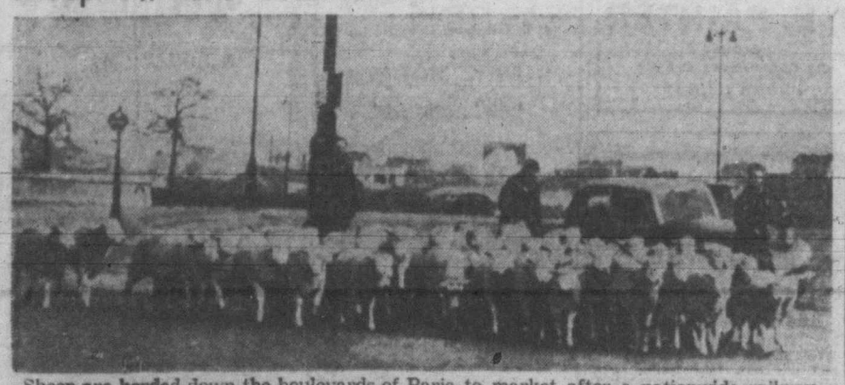
Some military men express belief that the very secrecy thrown about the entire bacteriological warfare project could work to foster panic. Since the whole subject is taboo, those charged with defence are allowed neither to disclose the extent to which bacteriological warfare is practicable nor to hint at means for detection or prevention.

Big Fire Raging At Fort St. John

FORT ST. JOHN, B.C. (CP)—Fire was raging uncontrolled late Sunday afternoon at the Fort St. John Lumber Company mill west of this Alaska Highway town. Fort St. John is about 350 airmiles northwest of Edmonton.

Flames were threatening 1,000,000 feet of lumber ready for shipment to the Atlantic seaboard. The blaze had circled the lumber pile and volunteer fire fighters were attempting to prevent the blaze from spreading.

Sheep On Paris Boulevards



Sheep are herded down the boulevards of Paris to market after a nationwide railway strike which prevented shippers from moving them by train.

Civil Servants Name Bill Oliver To Head Victoria Union Branch

Victoria branch of the B.C. Provincial Government Employees' Association Saturday elected William S. Oliver, former Canadian army major now employed in the motor vehicle branch, as president.

Gordon A. Spring, returning officer, reported Saturday following balloting during the morning, that almost 900 of the 1,100 members in the branch had voted and Mr. Oliver had edged out by a narrow margin David R. Monk and E. C. McIntyre.

Mr. Oliver joined the Scottish militia in 1927 and went on active service at the start of the war. He was chief instructor at the small arms school at Camp Sarcee, near Calgary.

New vice-president of the branch is C. G. McIlmoyl, who defeated R. D. Higgins. Defeating A. M. Davis, R. A. Hadfield was elected treasurer.

Five department representatives were elected in voting: K. J. Perry, Attorney-General's Department; C. D. Christian, Department of Education, buildings; R. J. E. Kay, Department of Finance; R. Kersey, Department of Public Works, general; C. G. Harrison, Public Works, maintenance.

The following department representatives were elected by acclamation: R. C. Winterburn, Court House; J. S. Lord, Motor Vehicle Branch; G. B. Forde and D. J. McDonald, Liquor Control Board; J. Wells, Department of Agriculture; Miss B. Buckmaster, Department of Education; J. R. Coates and A. M. Davies, Lands and Forests; W. J. D. Hoskyn, Department of Labor; Miss J. Gower, Department of Mines.

WILLIAM S. OLIVER

J. W. Green was acclaimed as representative to Public Utilities and Municipal Affairs; H. A. Glover, Trade and Industry and Bureau of Economics; G. E. Gillespie, Provincial Secretary and King's Printer; Mrs. M. Johnson, Provincial Secretary, general; Mrs. C. G. Scott, Department of Health and Welfare, health branch; Miss I. J. R. Dryden, Department of Health and Welfare, welfare branch.

Business Profits Up, But Future Scanned As Uncertain Ties Loom

By Canadian Press

North American business concluded November with uncertain looks at Europe's industrial and political troubles; the unpredictable outcome of the Big Four Foreign Ministers' meeting in London; the special session of the United States Congress dealing with internal inflation and European aid; and, in Canada, import restrictions designed to reduce the outflow of United States dollars.

Stock markets reflected the pressure of uncertainties by drifting downward, despite dividend declarations and extra disbursements from unprecedented high earnings. Recent annual statements of 24 Canadian companies representative of nearly all sections of business—utilities, steels, agriculture, foods, liquors—showed profit increases over the preceding year ranging from 4.1 to 158.4 per cent.

Failure of markets to respond to good earnings was said by many to reflect belief that earnings have reached peaks, and that with buyer countries imposing import restrictions, exports from producing countries may decline. Counteracting this was the expected implementation of the European recovery program (Marshall Plan) which, in its vast $16,000,000,000 or more aid to Europe might be expected to take up any slack.

Available reports showed continued high activity in Canada.

Car loadings for the week ended Nov. 22 increased to 86,508 from 82.08 the previous week. Canadian tobacco stocks at Sept. 30 were up 26.3 per cent from a year ago. Payments of $1,900,000 by the Alberta Wheat Pool in the six months ended Sept. 30 wiped out the pool's indebtedness to the provincial government.

October figures:

Department store dollar sales up 12 per cent over October, 1946, with average increases for the first 10 months of the year at 15 per cent; more motor vehicles financed than in any month since September, 1941; wheat flour production of 2,531,104 barrels compared with 2,432,875 last October.

Employment:

Unplaced applicants at Nov. 13 were 35,000 fewer than a year ago. Ontario manufacturing plants report capacity operation with 60,000 more employed than a year ago, and some plants putting in night shifts to increase output.

Church-Labor Group Outlines Objects

Aims and objects of the Church Labor Liaison Association were outlined at a meeting of the executive last week. The executive adopted the following four-point program:

1. To promote a deeper understanding and a fuller spirit of unity among the members of both the church and labor.

2. To combine the efforts of all toward the accomplishment of those matters pertinent to the well-being of society.

3. To provide a meeting ground for the discussion of all problems affecting the common interest of people, whether local, nation or international; and to support consistently the democratic view of life.

4. To endeavor to provide those services necessary in helping all people in their march toward their ideal: One Family in God.

Imperial Tobacco Co. Increases Cigarettes To 35 Cents For 20

MONTREAL (CP)—The Imperial Tobacco Company of Canada announced today that the price of cigarettes will be increased by two cents for each package of 20.

The announcement, by company president Earle Spafford, said the basic price will in future be 35 cents a package instead of 33 cents.

In Quebec province, where there is a provincial tax on cigarettes, the price increase is from 36 cents to 38 cents.

Mr. Spafford's announcement said the company had "no alternative but to increase the price" because "the cost of everything entering into the manufacture of cigarettes had increased very materially, in some cases such as labor costs and leaf costs to the extent of 100 per cent."

Cigarettes still were selling at the old price here today and tobacco store salesmen said they believed the lower figures would be retained on old stock.

There was no immediate announcement by other tobacco companies, but it was believed here they would follow the Imperial Tobacco Company's lead.

Worker Killed By Piledriver

John Dumont, 101 Ontario Street, was killed this morning while working with a pile-driving crew of the J. H. Bell Pile-Driving Company at the C.P.R wharves late this forenoon.

City police were called in to convey Mrs. Dumont, wife of the dead man to St. Joseph's Hospital. The doctor called to attend Mr. Dumont found the man was dead.

According to eye-witnesses, Mr. Dumont was guiding a timber being driven by the piledriver when he was struck under the chin by a part of the mechanism. It is believed the heavy blow broke his neck.

Follow The Lead

HAMILTON (CP)—The Tuckett Tobacco Company announced here the retail price of its cigarettes had increased from 33 to 35 cents a package, effective today.

Clark, Tilke Get 10 And 5 Years In Drug, Robbery Cases

Nick Clark and Allan Tilke, both of Vancouver, were given penitentiary terms of 10 years and five years and three months, respectively, by Magistrate H. C. Hall in City Police Court this morning when they appeared for sentence on charges arising out of the drug hold-up in Victoria Oct. 25.

Clark, who pleaded guilty to being involved in the armed hold-up of William R. Clark in the McGill & Orme dispensary in the Scollard Building, was given 10 years in jail. He was given five years and a $200 fine, or in default of payment, three additional months in jail, on each of four charges in possession of narcotics, but to run concurrent with the first term imposed.

Tilke was sentenced to five years and fined $200, or in default of payment, three additional months in jail, for carrying drugs in his car. On four other counts of possession of narcotics he was given the same sentences to run concurrently.

Later in the morning Clark appeared for sentence in Saanich Police Court on the robbery of the Gorge Pharmacy and nine drug charges. Sentences imposed there were to run concurrent with the city terms. In all he will serve 10 years in jail. This afternoon he will appear in Esquimalt Police Court for sentence on a charge of robbing Constable George Harvey of the police patrol, also having a gun without a permit.

Tilke has been committed for trial in a higher court on a charge of being one of the persons in the McGill & Orme robbery.

Widespread Net Thrown To Trap 9 Jail-Breakers

VANCOUVER (CP)—Squads of police today forming a huge dragnet over the lower British Columbia mainland, attempted to cut off all means of escape for a gang of fugitives who Saturday night engineered one of the biggest jail-breaks in Canadian penal history.

Of the 14 men and youths ranging in age from 15 to 20 years who made their break from the Oakalla prison farm, nine miles from Vancouver, by sawing bars of a west wing window and fleeing under cover of a heavy fog, five were back in custody within 24 hours.

Three of the jail-breakers, Frank Cross and Tom McKellar, both 17 and of Vancouver, and a 15-year-old boy from Vancouver Island, were recaptured five hours after their break-out.

Their upper garments only prison shirts, the chilled trio said they were "happy" to be taken back to the lock-up.

The two other recaptured escapees—Donald Walker, 18, and Edward Jones, 19, both of Vancouver — surrendered meekly to Vancouver police Sunday night at a downtown Y.M.C.A.

The jail-break was discovered at 7 p.m. Saturday just before the day's final roll call. Supper had been completed at 6.20—last time the group was seen—and 40 minutes later, when prisoners were put in cells for the night, their absence was discovered.

CARS STOLEN

Innumerable car thefts—one of a still missing patrol car from the Vancouver police garage — have been attributed to the jail-breaking crew. Police, however, linked four vehicle thefts and two break-ins with the youths' escape.

Three of the stolen vehicles have been recovered.

Three sets of men's clothing were taken from burgled stores and police later found discarded prison garb in the area. Two of the escapees also were said to have raided a home, departing with two heavy jackets and $20.

Road blocks, to prevent the fugitives from crossing the international border 40 miles to the south, were in operation and police were checking the identity of motorists and their passengers.

With an end to the fog, which earlier had hampered the hunt, a cold rain fell on the search area and police were confident some of the scantily clad youths soon would give themselves up.

FULLEST INQUIRY

Warden H. Millman of Oakalla Prison today promised a full investigation into the escape of 14 inmates who sawed their way through a window of the west wing.

"The boys that escaped were all members of what we call a star group," he said. "They were segregated from the rest of the inmates in Oakalla and were between the ages of 15 and 20.

"We figured we could make good citizens out of them and did not want them to mix with other prisoners, many of whom are hardened criminals.

"There were more than 30 boys in this part of the jail, occupying two cell blocks. Each boy had his own individual cell, leading out on to a passageway.

"The boys were given certain latitude. Individual cells were not locked," Warden Millman said.

2 Victoria Youths Among Those Sought

Two Victorians have been identified as being among the men who broke out of Oakalla Prison Farm Saturday night as Robert Davis, 18, 1014 McCaskill Street, and William Drader, 3628 Douglas Street, aged 20 years, both given prison sentences on robbery counts.

Davis was sentenced to two years less one day in jail for the two acts of armed robbery in the city on March 13 of this year by Magistrate H. C. Hall. He was involved in the robbery at gunpoint of Mrs. Emily Rogers at the Half-way Confectionary, 819 Esquimalt Road, and Mrs. Laura Matthews, Blue Bird Cafe, 246 Cook Street.

Drader was given a year in jail for being involved in the theft of $5 from John Theros on Oct. 27 on the city streets.

8 Die In Spectacular Air Crash At Seattle Landing

SEATTLE (CP) — Eight persons were killed and two others critically injured when a four-engined Alaska Airlines transport overshot a runway Sunday at the Seattle-Tacoma airport and smashed a passing automobile.

Twenty-six of the 28 aboard the big plane scrambled from door and emergency exits or were pulled from the flames by rescuers. All, however, were seared by the flames that flashed through the fuselage. Six of the rescued died later.

The dead: Fred Smith; Leslie Howe, 33; Ole Ring; Mrs. Virginia Stitsworth, 33, entertainer known professionally as Virginia Grafton; Gordon Johnson, 21-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Johnson, Palmer, Alaska; Mrs. Pearl Stella Jones, 43; Miss Reba Monk, the stewardess, and Jonas E. Johnson, 44, Palmer.

The pilot, Capt. James E. Farris, 37, of Seattle, told the Seattle Times the DC-4 plane landed at a speed of approximately 100 miles an hour and "rolled like it was on a bed of ball-bearings" until it leaped a 60-foot embankment at the end of the airport runway. It crashed into an automobile on the highway below, killing a blind woman in the car. The plane had flown from Anchorage, Alaska, to Seattle. It had 28 persons aboard, 25 passengers and a crew of three.

Three passengers were reported in critical condition at the new Renton Hospital and two were listed as unsatisfactory at the Harborview County Hospital.

The others had been released after treatment or were recovering from minor burns and bruises in the hospital.

Twenty-six of the 28 aboard the big plane scrambled from door and emergency exits or were pulled from the flames by rescuers. All, however, were seared by the flames that flashed through the fuselage.

STEWARDESS LOSES LIFE

The plane's stewardess, Miss Reba Monk, credited by survivors with having led many of the passengers to safety, died a short time after the wreck.

Bodies of two of the dead were not recovered until nearly four hours after the crash because of intense heat from the wreckage.

The plane, a DC-4, crashed a few minutes after it had been turned back by fog from an attempted landing.

DRIVER'S STORY

The woman killed in the auto was Mrs. Stella Jones, 33, widowed mother of a 9-year-old boy.

Ira von Volkenburg Gace, the driver of the car, said:

"I looked up and saw a big propeller coming right at me. That was the first warning I had and I didn't have time to do a thing before the plane hit the car.

"It was terrible. I tried to find Mrs. Jones in the smashed car, but couldn't. I kicked out a window to get out. The plane was right over it. I had a hard time getting free through the wreckage. I crawled out from under it as it was beginning to burn."

PROVINCE FIRST, PARTY NEXT

UPON THE OUTCOME OF THE MEETing in Vancouver next week of the Liberals of British Columbia may well depend the future political and economic stability of this province. We put it this way because it is the prerogative of Hon. John Hart, as the retiring head of the Coalition administration, to advise the Lieutenant-Governor whom to summon to form a new government. And the Premier's decision doubtless will be influenced by what happens at the mainland convention.

Week-end developments in the Greater Vancouver area have revealed how certain elements within the confines of the Liberal Party in that part of the province are aligning themselves. For example, Mr. James Sinclair, Liberal member of the House of Commons for the important riding of North Vancouver, expressed his views with commendable clarity in his own bailiwick last Friday night. He made no bones about the fact that he favored the selection of Mr. Byron Johnson, Coalition member of the provincial Legislature for New Westminster, as the new leader of the provincial Liberal Party. And, be it noted, "Boss" ran as a straight Coalitionist candidate at the general election of 1945, retaining the seat he had won in a by-election previously with a handsome majority. But, on the other hand, Senator J. W. deB. Farris, who, like Mr. Sinclair, draws his parliamentary emolument from the federal treasury and is equally determined to preserve the Coalition system against the encroachments of the Socialists under the guidance of Mr. Harold Winch, has come out strongly in support of Attorney-General Wismer's bid for the leadership of provincial Liberals. This is the mainland Senator's right and privilege under time-honored Liberal usage.

However, notwithstanding what Mr. Sinclair thinks, or what Senator Farris says, the people of British Columbia, who obviously have made up their minds that the Coalition system of government for this province must be maintained at all costs, will be the ones who, in the final analysis, will have to determine who is to be the next Premier of this province. And it might be well here to interject a reminder that the day is past when Vancouver and Vancouver factions can dictate to the rest of the people of the province as to how and by whom their political affairs shall be run.

Such elements as may still cherish that popular Vancouver illusion should now make up their minds to the fact that an intelligent electorate is wise, at long last, to anything savoring of machine manoeuvre. It will be understood, therefore, that the people of British Columbia, the majority of whom are determinedly opposed to the idea of Socialistic regimentation are equally, even more bitterly, opposed to any semblance of sordid Tammany technique—no matter where it may raise its ugly head. This being the case, delegates to next week's deliberations in Vancouver will be good British Columbians only in the measure to which they weigh all the implications of their responsibilities, as they take a long-range view, and as they put the welfare of their province ahead of political or personal aggrandizement.

SEVENTY-THREE YESTERDAY

STUDENTS OF THE BRITISH POLITIcal scene between the end of the First Great War and the metamorphosis which the advent of the late and unlamented Adolf Hitler brought about in the early 'thirties were wagering substantial sums of money in the London clubs that Winston Spencer Churchill would never become Prime Minister of Great Britain. His friends and critics alike recognized his numerous qualities—his administrative ability, his literary genius, his knowledge of the world and its statesmen. But he was regarded as a "crisis" man, just as Mr. Lloyd George was regarded when he broke with Mr. Asquith in 1916. Consequently, and since the apparent even tenor of the Baldwin government's way did not seem to be threatened after the Conservative victory at the polls in the "crisis" election of 1931, the man who had been Conservative, Liberal, Constitutionalist, Independent, and finally Conservative again did not rate importantly in the realm of political prognostication. Not even his fortnightly articles, warning the British and other peoples against the Nazi menace, influenced the habit of thought of the complacent ones. To them, in other words, Churchill safely could be placed in the "has been" class.

All this is so much water under Westminster Bridge. The turbulent spirit who first saw active military service in the Cuban War of 1895, in the Northwest Frontier of India immediately after; with Kitchener in the Sudan two years before the dawn of the present century; who was captured by the Boers while serving as a war correspondent for the London Morning Post, who was elected Conservative member of the House of Commons for Oldham in 1900; who became successively Undersecretary of State for the Colonies in the Liberal administration of Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, President of the Board of Trade, and First Lord of the Admiralty; who fought on the western front after the "episode" of the Dardanelles; who, in 1917, became Minister of Munitions under Mr. Lloyd George—his old colleague of the 1911 social reform days—the following year becoming Secretary for War and Air, eventually, as a Conservative, Chancellor of the Exchequer in the Baldwin ministry from 1924 to 1929—here, then, is the man who baffled all the political prophets, upset the prognostications of the wiseacres, "called the shot" on Hitler, and became the Prime Minister who brilliantly led the people of Britain through their "darkest hour" as no other Briton could have done. Those of all shades of political thought throughout the world, therefore, meant what they said yesterday when they wished him good luck and good health on his 73rd birthday.

GIVE IT A CHANCE

AN INDEPENDENT JEWISH STATE IN the Holy Land has been born amid Arab threats that creation of the new country will precipitate "the most horrible and greatest massacre ever witnessed." The United Nations Assembly brought at least theoretical settlement of the age-old Zionist problem by voting 33 to 13 on Saturday for partition of Palestine into separate Arab and Jewish entities. A last-minute Arab compromise proposal was rejected with little discussion. Earlier there had been considerable doubt that the necessary two-thirds majority for partition could be obtained, and a week of hectic lobbying among the Assembly members preceded the balloting. But while the world organization has thus removed the question from its agenda paper, the wide implications of the resulting situation will no doubt continue to engage United Nations attention for some time to come.

Inherent in the Arabs' refusal to accept the decision lies a critical test of the efficacy and authority of the United Nations. Whether or not the Arab threats result in the blood bath they promise, the die now has been cast and the international group cannot back down from its expressed intention. It appears likely that armed force may be required to implement the plan, and since Britain has already given notice that her troops will not be used alone in any such undertaking, the lack of a United Nations military organization to enforce international decisions may quickly become apparent.

On the Jewish side, the action has gained for them the realization of many generations of hope and striving. An age-old ambition has been achieved and it may be taken for granted that full and industrious advantage will be taken of the opportunity now presented. It will be unfortunate indeed if the new state must engage in immediate conflict with the surrounding Arab countries, but there can be no question at this point of Jewish determination or courage.

It was an involved decision that faced the United Nations. The question of partition of a piece of land that is claimed by two peoples whose supporting arguments reach back into antiquity could not be anything but difficult. Much of the detail of the plan was worked out by Canadian representatives to the United Nations, but it was presented reluctantly as the least harmful of four unattractive choices, rather than as an obvious and readily-acceptable solution. Arab dissatisfaction is understandable, but a "holy war" has a touch of the medieval, even in this era, when ideological considerations have emerged as the predominant martial motives. It would seem that little could come of Arab warfare but a prolongation of the unrest and hardship that have attended the Palestine problem up to now. If it is to survive, the United Nations cannot afford to have its decision nullified by armed action by member states. The Arab world would do well to give the partition plan a chance to prove itself.

PROFIT FROM 'WASTE'

TO THE USUAL GRATIFICATION which British Columbians experience over the announcement of a new industry establishing itself in the province will be added the satisfaction of learning that the pulp mill to be located at Duncan Bay, near Campbell River, "will be a sustained yield unit so far as timber supply is concerned." The projected Canadian Western Timber Company Ltd. plant at that site was so described by Forests Minister E. T. Kenney.

Here is another significant development in the province's intelligent efforts to protect the forests. According to present plans, moreover, the installation will be able to reclaim what used to be considered waste material in logged-over areas. On the basis of the minister's pronouncement, the undertaking should be another step toward the "farming" of British Columbia timber lands instead of the "mining" technique of a previous day.

The policy set forth reflects a clear recognition of the merit of the Sloan recommendations, with their warnings that the province's economy could no longer stand the drain on this vital resource arising from a "cut out and get out" harvest of trees. Furthermore, the utilization of what has formerly been considered refuse timber promises heightened efficiency in the sane exploitation of the products of the woods.

That the mill plans to use power from the B.C. Power Commission's Elk Falls development provides evidence of the increasing value that may be expected from the hydro-electric project. Here is concrete proof, it would seem, of the contention that industrial expansion can be expected to follow the operations of the provincial government plant.

Clang! Clang!

AS VICTORIANS today start a new era in municipal transportation with the partial change-over from streetcars to buses, there will be many old-time residents who pause to cast their thoughts back to the days when the electric street railway service was in its infancy here. A far cry from the modern speedy, electric-lighted buses were those early tramcars, with their coal-oil lamps, "fresh-air" ventilation and sense of adventurous pioneering. But there seems to have been fun and good-fellowship in the old days too, which the efficiency and comfort of 1947 has not replaced.

THE FIRST electric street railway service in Victoria—and the third in Canada—began in the spring of 1890, using equipment of the National Electric Tramway and Lighting Company. A similar service got underway in the city of Vancouver a few months later. Originally, the Victoria and Vancouver projects were designed for horse-drawn cars. But although some were bought, and horse barns were built in Vancouver, a last-minute change in plans electrified the systems. Victoria's pioneer service consisted of six miles of track. One line ran from a steam plant on Store Street out to the Jubilee Hospital gates at Fort and Richmond, which marked the city limits. The other stretched from the Outer Wharf to what is now Hillside Junction. Five little cars were in operation. The seats ran lengthwise, the motorman and conductor stood out in the rain and wind, and the rocking motion was frequently like that of a ship at sea. The fare was five cents.

THE SYSTEM CHANGED hands several times before it was taken over by the British Columbia Electric Railway Company in 1898. By that time considerable expansion had taken place. Fourteen cars were in service, covering the Fort Street, Beacon Hill and Outer Wharf routes. A shuttle line had been opened to Oak Bay from the end of the Fort Street line, and an interurban system was running to Esquimalt. At the turn of the century, 20 cars were in service. They were larger than the originals, carrying about 40 passengers, but still had only the single-truck chassis.

Many are the stories told of life on the Esquimalt line. At first the fare was 15 cents, or 25 cents return, but by 1908 this was reduced to the five-cent city fare plus an additional five cents. A cow occasionally wandered onto the tracks from a nearby farm and derailed a car at the cost of its life. The coal-oil headlights did not pierce the winter night gloom with much success. It was livelier inside the cars, however, and many a time a crowd of joking, cheering sailors returning to their ships would spill out of the derailed car to lift it bodily back onto the tracks. Those were the days of wooden streetcars and iron men.

AT THE FAR END of the city, a couple of little cars began in 1892 to give a shuttle service from Fort Street to the Oak Bay terminus. "Seasickness" was not uncommon in the tiny, rocking vehicles, and a slightly larger type which made its appearance about 1908, was felt to be a great improvement. Two cars in particular, which familiarly became known to Victorians as "Old 12 and 13" will be recalled by early residents. Travel was still rugged, however. The innocent passenger could get a good shock by leaning too carelessly against the equipment. The motorman had to crank a wheel to brake the bouncing car.

BUT IF THE CONDITIONS were tough, so were the passengers. It was held than only a sissy would want the car stopped to let him on or off. Any self-respecting businessman would sprint through the mud or dust to catch it on the fly, and a slight slowing-down at his corner was all he asked when alighting. The early cars on the Oak Bay run had no sides in summer, and the eight seats were usually jammed to capacity. There was no centre aisle for the conductor; he made his way along a running board around the outside.

By 1905 the Gorge line was in operation, and the Foul Bay service got underway three years later. Streetcars carried advertisements on the roof in those days, and some Victorians may remember the "Athletic Cigarettes—Have No Rivals," sign which became a familiar sight. Early pictures show the rails laid on dirt roads in the heart of the city.

A FEATURE OF THE streetcar system between 1906 and '08 was the gravel cars which hauled their loads from the pits at Spring Ridge to fill in the Causeway and Empress Hotel site. Towards the end of that period, a spur line was laid from Fort Street along Richmond Road to Mount Tolmie, and gravel from the hill was hauled to various points around the city. With the establishment of the University School, one car was sent out in the morning and another in the afternoon, and as the district was built up, the service was increased to once an hour. This line was the last to go into regular service, and the first to convert to bus. During the recent war, when materials for a complete track repair were unobtainable, the motor service was substituted. Meanwhile, in 1912 and '13, the Burnside, Hillside and Uplands lines had been opened. A number of the lines were double-tracked at this time, and heavier rails were laid over most of the system. Birney cars, named after their eastern manufacturer, made their appearance in 1921 on the Outer Wharf route. Victorians dubbed them "pill-boxes" or "Toonerville trollies." Soon they too, will make their last run.—B.A.T.

Bubble, Bubble, Toil And Trouble

Toward A World Society

From the British Travel Association

A FEW years ago many hoped for a United States of Europe, or at least for Danubian and Balkan federations which would replace the Austrian and Ottoman Empires in their important functions as guardians of the peace.

ANCIENT LEGACY

This movement of European unity can be based upon many centuries of a common civilization, the legacy of Rome and of the Middle Ages, of Renaissance and Reformation, a community of traditions which includes all the nations from England to Poland, from Italy to Norway.

While this Pan-European movement is rapidly losing ground, a fictitious unity of Pan-Asia is being loudly proclaimed, a solidarity of the colored races who have little in common but a passing negative situation in their relations with the highly-industralized nations. Otherwise there is no link connecting the Bantu and the Hindu, the Malay and the Berber, the Arab and the Chinese.

In fact the deep racial, religious, and class antagonisms within Asia are only momentarily covered up by a common antagonism towards the white man. The tension between Mohammedan and Hindu, the treatment of the darker races in India, the competition of Chinese and Indian imperialisms in Burma and Malaya and their conflicts with the native nationalisms, are only symptoms of the stresses and cleavages in Asia which will develop as soon as the control of the white man is removed which for the last century has maintained peace over wide areas and assured a growing equality of races, castes and classes before the law.

CONFLICT AGGRAVATED

Thus at a period when means of technology seem to bind the various parts of the globe more closely together than ever, and when the objective conditions for the development of international society seem propitious to an unprecendented degree, the beliefs and loyalties of peoples over vast parts of this globe have taken on forms which aggravate conflicting ideologies and deepen antagonistic class and national consciousness.

It is impossible to predict whether we are facing a purely transitional situation which may give way to a new age of enlightenment, of growing tolerance and therefore of an easier mutual accommodation of the various groups of mankind, or whether we have entered, as many German and Russian thinkers have proclaimed, a period of conflict the outcome of which will decide the fate of the globe and the type of man.

As far as we can judge from historical experience, however, no single totalitarian faith will be able to impose itself or to undo the plurality and diversity of mankind. As soon as this hard fact will be accepted—and it will be the task of statesmanship to bring about this realization at as low a cost of suffering and sacrifice as possible — the fervent faiths of today will lose some of their absoluteness and aggressiveness.

HUMAN VALUES

International society can only grow when fanatical ideologies lose their hold upon the mind and spirit of so many millions and give way to a broader spirit of tolerance and compromise, of self-criticism and fair-minded objectivity. Then only will men of different convictions and religions and people of different nationalities and races be able to live together in an international society with emphasis on common human values and individual personal independence and not on national rights or exclusive schemes of world salvation.

Britain Casting 1948 Tourist Lure

From the British Travel Association

AT THE HEIGHT of the 1947 tourist "season," the British Travel Association, Tourist Division of the British Tourist and Holidays Board, was busily engaged in promoting the 1948 "Come to Britain" campaign.

Tourist promotion is essentially a long-term operation and literature must be dispatched many months in advance of the holiday season. During the six months April to September 1947, therefore, the Distribution Department of the Travel Association was working at full pressure to send out Britain's message of welcome to next year's potential visitors. During this period the department dispatched overseas, illustrated booklets, folders, periodicals, posters and other material totaling nearly three million pieces—or 20,000 pieces of tourist literature per day.

AN EYE TO DOLLARS

With an eye to dollar revenue and in view of currency difficulties in many countries, over one-third of this total went to the United States and Canada. The remainder went to the Dominions, Norway, Denmark, Sweden, Holland, Switzerland, France and Belgium. To Latin America went Spanish and Portuguese editions.

The association's range of tourist promotion literature and window display material is constantly being extended. During this winter dispatches will include a new London handbook in full color, a series of 12 folders dealing with regional areas of Britain, an enlarged guide to hotels in the British Isles, a series of fifty photogravure pictorial posters, the first of a new series of sporting posters, in full color, by well-known artists together with color folders relating to sport, and a series of information sheets with concise data for the travel trade about 160 tourist resorts in the United Kingdom.

A Question Of Essential Rights

By JOSEPH L. RUTLEDGE

IT IS NOT sympathy for the bigoted thinking of one religious sect that is disturbing as one reads of the legal action taken against the Jehovah's Witnesses in the Quebec courts.

ESSENTIAL RIGHTS

It is the fear that the fervor of witch-hunting may lead us to question certain essential rights, the right of any man to hold any opinion that does not bring him into conflict with the law, or that does not advocate or encourage the advocacy of plans for the forcible overthrow of government.

Should we permit governments or courts or investigating bodies or individuals to use immediate power to suppress the rights of one unimportant individual, all our rights are, by that much, the less secure.

DEFINITION

Many years ago, in one of his lectures Lord Acton, Regius professor of History at Oxford, defined what liberty was.

"By liberty," he said, "I mean the assurance that every man shall be protected in doing what he believes his duty against the influence of authority and majorities, customs and opinion. The most certain test by which we judge whether a country is really free is the amount of security enjoyed by minorities.

"Liberty is not a means to a higher political end. It is itself the highest political end. It is better to be a citizen of a humble commonwealth in the Alps than a subject of the superb autocracy that overshadows half of Asia and Europe."

STILL TRUE

That "superb autocracy" has changed its name but it has not thereby relieved itself of the judgment voiced some 70 years ago.

Still it is true: "We have no thread through the enormous intricacy of modern politics, except the idea of progress toward more perfect and assured freedom and the divine right of free men."

NOW that the United Nations has approved the partitioning of Palestine into Jewish and Arab communities—a move desired by the Jews but bitterly opposed by the Arabs—this burning question immediately arises:

Who is going to maintain peace between these two peoples who have engaged in many bloody clashes during the past generation?

Somebody must police the Holy Land. Britain, which has announced that she is going to relinquish her mandate and withdraw from Palestine, has declined the task. So who tackles the job?

There's no use challenging fate by advancing the wishful idea that the situation will take care of itself. Storm clouds continue to pile up. Yesterday in Cairo Abdel Rahman Azzam Pasha, secretary-general of the Arab League, declared his people (totaling 33,000,000) never will permit the U.N. to partition Palestine but will resist by force.

Is he bluffing? Well, maybe. But I've spent considerable time among the Arab peoples in various countries and while I know they are capable of bluffing I wouldn't want to gamble that they are now.

The Arabs consider any attempt to set up a Jewish nation as aggression against the Arabs.

It is up to the United Nations, having sanctioned partition, to see the matter through. Most certainly the U.N. should create a police force (which does not now exist) to maintain peace during the reconstruction period.

To the Jews and to the Arabs of Palestine is entrusted a spiritual heritage of mankind. The U.N. must help safeguard it.

British butchers have found a new use for the slit-type letter box: they can deliver the weekly meat ration that way. A joke? Not according to news pictures which show it being done.

Mr. Vishinsky is at it again. He has lots of words in his vocabulary, a veritable torrent of words, but one—war mongering—seems to get itself into every sentence.

We think Mr. Vishinsky should change the record. This one has got into a grove and, unlike the music that went round and round, isn't coming out anywhere.

DANGEROUS FLYING

Edmonton Journal

A sign of the changing times—though not a pleasant one—is the announcement that a Fort Saskatchewan man has been heavily fined for dangerous flying, flying without a license and using an aircraft not legally registered and without proper identification marks. It was the first prosecution of its kind in Alberta. It shows how rules and restrictions are closing in on aviation; a pilot is no longer, as he was in the early days, almost as "free as a bird."

A GOOD NEIGHBOR

Windsor Star

Canada has been the best customer of the United States, and, in spite of import restrictions, is likely to remain so on a reduced scale.

Nevertheless, every dollar by which we curtail imports from our neighbor country means a financial loss to some producer in the United States.

It is therefore another proof of the friendly attitude of the United States to Canada that there were no objections in Washington to the restrictive actions taken by the Canadian government. And this despite it coming on the heels of reciprocal agreements designed to enlarge trade.

WHILE SHE WORKS

U.K. Information Office

A machine which makes possible a factory laundry service as an additional welfare factor to increase production is now being taken up by industrialists in Britain. At present 78 per cent of all washing is done in the home. If, therefore, the woman worker is able to have her washing done at the factory for a nominal sum, she will not only be relieved of an arduous household drudgery, but factory absenteeism, due to the wash-day, will be greatly reduced.

A Bradford firm of wool manufacturers, has already instituted a laundry service in order to eliminate "Monday absenteeism." The employees bring their laundry to work with them, hand it in, and collect it the same evening, washed, dried and ready for ironing.

MARION, Mich. (AP)—An explosion shattered a Michigan gas storage company pumping station here early Sunday, killing one man, injuring six and threatening some 250 eastern Michigan communities with an immediate gas shortage.

An official of the company, which is affiliated with the Consumers' Power Company, estimated damage at $750,000 and said the larger cities affected were Lansing, Pontiac, Flint, Midland, Saginaw and Bay City.

Police identified the dead man as Walter Krus, 29, who lived at the pumping station on the Muskegon River, eight and a half miles southeast of here.

Elect 18 To Board Of 'Little Centre'

Eighteen members were elected to the board of directors of the Art Centre of Greater Victoria, popularly known as the "Little Centre," at the first general meeting of the season, held at Prince Robert House, with H. Cuthbert Holmes in the chair.

Serving for one year on the board, they are: Mrs. J. G. Austin, Mme. Renee Archibald, Patrick Birley, Lt.-Col. W. Caspar, Lt.-Col. T. C. Evans, Cmdr. D. Fairfull, Owen Goward, Mrs. Audrey St. D. Johnson, Miss Margaret Izard, Warren Martin, Mrs. J. Islay Mutter, Fred Norris, Horace G. Parker, Mrs. A. J. Tullis, Miss Sara Spencer, Miss Gwen Scott, J. A. Whitehead and D. Whitehead.

One of the first tasks of the new board will be the finding of a new "locale" both convenient and suitable for exhibitions and the multiple cultural activities and gatherings which were held regularly last year at The Little Centre, 965 Yates Street.

A brief but colorful word picture of art life in Scandinavia and more particularly in Sweden, where he had lived and painted through the war years, was given by Baron Knoop, an artist and new resident of Victoria.

"Art might well have been expected to languish in a small country during the war, but art and artists were more than ever in demand," Baron Knoop said.

The old and new boards of directors will meet in joint session Tuesday afternoon at 5.15 at Prince Robert House. The Art Centre of Greater Victoria is sponsoring a 10-day exhibit of paintings by Mr. and Mrs. Owen Goward, Jan. 6 to 16, at Prince Robert House.

Police Promotion

Sgt. Len Backler, Oak Bay resident who for the last five years has been stationed at the Victoria and district headquarters of the B.C. Provincial Police, left Victoria yesterday to take over new duties at Vernon as a result of his promotion from corporal to sergeant last week. He was promoted with five others due to good marks in recent examinations here. Sgt. Backler, who used to row for the J.B.A.A. sculling teams, will be greatly missed by the Oak Bay scouting movement. He was leader of the St. Mary's A Cub Pack. The sergeant has had 16 years' service with the force and during that time has been stationed mostly on the mainland. He joined in June, 1932, spent four years in Kelowna, a similar period in Vernon, finally being transferred to Salmon Arm and then to Victoria headquarters in 1942.

16th Vehicle Crashes Into Vancouver House

VANCOUVER (CP) — Don't tell Arthur Patrick MacDowell of Vancouver that lightning never strikes the same place twice. His house was hit by a truck Saturday—the 16th vehicle in seven years to end up with its wheels in the MacDowell basement.

His house is in what usually is termed a strategic position—on a sharp turn. When visibility becomes poor, people come calling, usually at the rate of about one carload every six months. Saturday it was foggy.

The MacDowell's house is on the market for sale.

Russians Short Of Vehicles Hi-Jack Them In Berlin Area

By NORMAN M. MACLEOD
Victoria Times
Correspondent

BERLIN—As we passed a now ghostly-looking Tiergarten on our way through the shambles that were all that is left of the once impressive temple of Nazidom my soldier driver reached into the glove compartment of our car and took out two service revolvers.

"We are coming into the Russian zone; keep this in your pocket," he told me, handing me one.

I took the weapon gingerly and without enthusiasm. I had no desire to fire a shot that might be heard around the world. I didn't even want to be around when one was fired. I told my driver friend so frankly.

He heard me grimly, but unsympathetically.

"These Russians," he explained, are short of vehicles and lately they've been hi-jacking them. They're going to get this one over our dead bodies."

He wasn't the least bit trigger-happy in his manner. He was just prepared for something—or anything—that might happen.

HOPED FOR BEST

After that there was nothing to do but hope for the best. We crossed the boundary line into the Soviet zone and turned sharply to the right off the broad Charlottenburg - Chaussee we had been traveling. I tried to forget the weapon in my pocket I had no intention of using. I even tried to forget that my impassive chauffeur steering our way so coolly and carefully around the debris that still litters the streets was a potential one-man army..

We now were traveling what used to be the Whitehall of Berlin. Nothing was left of it now but a vast expanse of rubble. One by one government buildings had been reduced systematically to waste along the broad street and adjacent squares. The thoroughness of the job made the destruction wrought by the Germans back of St. Paul's on the night of the London Blitz pale into insignificance.

Here and there a few walls still stood. They served to divide off for the human eye what otherwise would have been a dreary expanse of waste. They were gutted of the rooms they once enclosed. Curiously enough, one of them belonging to the Reichschancellery still held the balcony from which Hitler used to speak to the German masses in the square below.

The complete devastation of that square, the disappearance even of the chamber in which he used to pause in his plans for world conquest in order to come out and address the crowds, mocked with dramatic muteness as we drove by the promises of glory that he had made so glibly and boastfully to the German people.

To see all this we had to pass an uncomfortable number of detachments of Russian troops. To my nervousness it seemed as though the normal number of patrols had been doubled for our benefit, and that they were eyeing us intently. Despite the dramatic interest of the scene, I was not sorry when my guide headed us back once more towards the British zone.

SIGNALLED TO STOP

It was just as we were a scant 300 yards from the boundary that it happened. A Russian soldier signalled from the sidewalk for us to stop. We were back again on the broad Charlottenburg-Chaussee with the ruins of the once magnificent Berlin Opera House now on our right, the Reichstag a little beyond it. We were the only car. A few yards further along, on the other side of the boulevard, there was another Russian patrol. They didn't appear to be noticing us.

"We're not stopping," my driver told me grimly. He didn't lose his head in the least, but behaved with a cuteness that spoke volumes for his coolness and judgment. We were approaching generally in the direction of the Russian soldier who had signalled us. We didn't change our direction. We even slackened a little our already leisurely speed. Our driver had even me fooled. I thought he had changed his mind and that we were going to stop after all. It was just at the last moment that we swung sharply into the centre of the boulevard and streaked for the British zone. For seconds that seemed like hours I cringed in my seat fearing the bullets that might pursue us. None came.

And so I had my sample of Berlin occupation incident. When I say that it wasn't an altogether minor sample, don't get me wrong. I'm not seeking exceptional merit simply because I succeeded in carrying my heart in my mouth for a considerable part of a Berlin sight-seeing tour; much less do I lay claim to the sang-froid necessary to enable me to say truthfully and romantically that I enjoyed the experience. I just didn't like it at all. But what I do mean is this:

DOESN'T MAKE FRIENDS

The hi-jacking of motorcars among friends isn't the sort of conduct that is likely to contribute to either the beauty or the enduring nature of the friendship. In fact, the odds are pretty strong that it will do the very opposite. For no matter how great may be the need of the party who helps himself to the transportation, the other party who has to get out and walk home is almost certain to feel plenty sore. Especially is this the danger if he has the grim idea that he's seen the last of his limousine and that from now on he's in the infantry, whether he likes it or not.

Now the Germans have read in the newspapers, which they still buy avidly, about relations being strained between Russia and her Western Allies. And with their own eyes the Germans are seeing the Russians practising hi-jacking of motorcars and other incivilities upon their Western comrades-in-arms—and these said comrades-in-arms getting downright resentful about it and not liking it at all. Such local incidents to which they are eyewitnesses are the proof to the Germans that all that they are reading about things not being too happy in the councils of the Allies isn't just newspaper talk.

Unquestionably the Germans today are playing a waiting game. They are waiting for the Allies to fall apart, for then they figure their own opportunity—the exact form of which they do not clearly foresee—will come.

Social Crediters Say United Nations Failing

CALGARY (CP)—The United Nations is bound to fail, the Social Credit Party said today in a statement issued after the concluding session of its national council meeting.

"The foundation of peace," it said, "springs from the individual and cannot be forced from the top. . . . We believe Lake Success might be called a failure."

The council reaffirmed that the Institute of Political Action in Quebec is recognized by the Social Credit Party and "is an integral part of it."

"What they do is their own lookout. Under our Social Credit policy each province is autonomous. We do not have an executive which dictates. . . . The national executive more or less acts as a liaison. What the provinces do is up to them."

Federal members present were Norman Jaques, Wetaskiwin; Pat Ashley, East Edmonton; Rev. E. G. Hansell, Macleod, Alta., and C. Johnson, Bow River, Alta.

Hospital Auxiliary To Buy Sheets, Slips

At a meeting of the Women's Auxiliary to the Royal Jubilee Hospital, with Mrs. J. D. Hunter presiding, a report was given by Mrs. J. L. Hobbs showing final results of the linen shower held by the auxiliary on Nov. 5. Approximately $265 was received and 350 pieces of linen.

The money will be used to buy sheets, pillow slips and bedspreads—articles most urgently needed by the hospital.

Mrs. Phil. Taylor collected $26 in dues during the month, and the sewing committee, under Mrs. P. J. Salmon, completed 95 articles.

Visiting committee, Mrs. W. G. Thorpe, convener, made their usual weekly visits to patients. Mrs. R. J. Oliver specially requested that all Christmas card stamps be saved, to help her with her stamp fund.

Two layettes were completed under Mrs. Guy Ford's supervision and one of these layettes will be given to a needy patient now in the maternity ward.

There will be no meeting of the auxiliary in December, but members will carry out their usual Christmas activities—decorating trees and providing gifts to mothers and babies in the maternity ward, also Christmas cheer for the nurses, under Mrs. L. G. W. Tallamy's supervision.

Mrs. Phil. Taylor, as representative of the auxiliary to the B.C. Hospitals Convention, gave an interesting report.

Plans were made for the annual bridge-tea which will be held on Feb. 4 with Mrs. Carl Pfender and Mrs. J. Sutherland Brown as conveners.

Sewing meetings next month will be held on Dec. 10 and 17.

Metropolitan — Next meeting of Metropolitan Young Peoples' Union will be held Tuesday when members will decorate the schoolroom for Christmas. Committee in charge is Misses Gladys Bool, Helen Young and Norman McCulloch, Don Walker, Grant Bracewell, Fred Baily and Doug Robinson, chairman. Plans have been made for a Christmas Carol tea on Dec. 6, from 3 until 5 in the church schoolroom. Miss Thelma Obee, Norman McCulloch and Doug Lesley were named a nominations committee at a recent meeting at which Miss Ella Marr presided. Miss Pat Fansett was welcomed as a new member.

A MATTER OF MINUTES

DID you ever stop to think how much of your life is regulated by your clock? Getting up in the morning, going to the office, the amount printed on your pay cheque, meeting your best girl on Saturday night—it's all timed to the minute—or if it isn't, things are likely to get pretty chaotic. Your body runs on a schedule, too, sleep, food, exercise—it needs them all, and regularly. Off its schedule, with irregular sleeping, haphazard eating, your body has a hard time functioning properly and efficiently. Keeping on time all the way means more fun per minute.

Time counts in illness, too. Call your doctor on time, the minute illness starts, and have his prescription filled at once. You may prevent further complications. We will co-operate by giving the speediest of service.

Makes, Dresses, Raggety-Anns For Solarium

Mrs. Emma Gillingham has been planning for Christmas all year and has just completed the last doll of a collection she will send to the Mill Bay hospital.

Twenty-five little girls at the Queen Alexandra Solarium will each receive a specially dressed stuffed doll for Christmas, thanks to Mrs. Emma Gillingham, of 5 Boyd Street, who has been making them with this idea in mind since last January.

The dolls are a little over one foot tall, dressed in gay colored striped or print cotton dresses. Each one is perfect to the last detail, from warm woolen shoes to two little bows in their hair. All are wearing silk stockings, and have a pretty bead necklace "to dress up a bit."

As well as the clothes they are wearing, each doll has a wardrobe consisting of a second dress, dainty lace-trimmed underclothes and a flannelette nightgown.

"Little girls always like to have something extra to dress their dolls in," says Mrs. Gillingham, who has brought up a family of eight and has a great understanding of children.

Mrs. Gillingham is not able to get out of the house very much, and likes to have something to keep her occupied, so last January she found out how many little girls there were at the Solarium and started making her Christmas presents then. "I wasn't so sure then that I would be able to finish so many," she said.

Mrs. Gillingham, who was the first police matron in Victoria and served on the police force from 1920 to 1941, has made the dolls themselves as well as the clothes. They are stuffed with kapoc and covered with heavy white linen. Their faces are embroidered and their hair is wool.

"Some of the material has been given me by friends, and some even has been sent to me from Seattle."

The dolls' story is summed up in the note above them, which also goes to the Solarium and reads:

"We are merry little maidens,
And our hearts are light and gay.
We are off to the Solarium
To spend our Christmas Day."

The signature tells that they are the gift of "Santa's Grannie."

Selection Of Dolls At Annual Bazaar

Big dolls, small dolls, dolls in national costumes, dolls in baby clothes, all are included in the more than 100 dolls that will be on display at the annual dolls' bazaar, sponsored by the Junior Auxiliary to Royal Jubilee Hospital, on Wednesday in the Nurses' Home.

In addition there will be stalls of dolls' clothes, a public market stall, home cooking and many other attractions.

Mrs. Charles A. Banks, honorary president of the auxiliary, will officiate at opening ceremonies at 2 o'clock.

Afternoon tea will be served. Invited to preside at the tea urns are Miss Kathleen Agnew, Miss Sara Spencer, Mrs. J. L. Hobbs, and Mrs. J. D. Hunter.

In windows in several downtown stores, dolls that will be offered at the bazaar are now on display, showing the amazing ingenuity of those who have worked nearly all year to make the affair a success.

Woman Artist Lives In World Of Make Believe

By HUMPHREY DAVY

Cornie Sigrist, believed to be the only woman stage artist and designer in Canada, lives in a world of make believe for which her subjects and characters belong to fairyland. Like a magic wand, the bold strokes of her paint brush bring to life Humpty-Dumpty, Jack-in-the-Bean Stock, Peter Pan and the witches, fairies and gremlins who inhabit the Land of Oz.

In her studio at the School of Theatrical Arts on Broad Street, she was found squatting on the floor, busily putting the finishing touches to the scenery for the Christmas Pantomine. Her cherry-red smock and green slacks were bespattered with paint.

As she daubed some paint on her canvass, she smiled happily. "I like my work—its most absorbing," she said. "Its an escape from grim reality into the make believe."

That wasn't hard to understand. A cut-out of a leering giant looked down upon us. Against the wall was a large canvas depicting a treasure galleon sailing on a deep blue sea. There were also life-size cut-outs of clowns, and kings and queens from the world of fantasy.

The artist explained that making stage scenery was not quite as easy as it looked on first hand. It required a thorough knowledge of the stage and the play to be produced. Then a miniature model of the stage and scenery was built. After the directors of the show had approved the model, it was then reproduced in full size.

In painting stage scenery for a play, Mrs. Sigrist is obliged to work on the floor because of the large size of her subjects. These are usually painted on cardboard which are later cut out.

FORMER ART TEACHER

A former art teacher at the Junior High School at Kelowna, where she taught for about six years, Mrs. Sigrist has been painting for 24 years. She started to paint stage scenery seven years ago for shows and plays produced for charitable purposes, little ralizing at the time that this line of work would eventually take up most of her time. The demand for stage scenery increased in Victoria when the theatre, which practically went underground with the advent of talking pictures, began to recover a few years ago.

Mrs. Sigrist is a great admirer of Walt Disney's cartoons. She thinks he's tops in this line. Although she paints more serious subjects, she prefers to draw caricatures, especially on a large scale because this gives her more freedom to express herself.

She is also quite capable at carpentry. But on one occasion she aroused the ire of the Stagehand Union when she not only painted a stage set, but did the carpentry work as well in connection with the scenery. There was complaints when they found out she was not a union member. Since the incident, Mrs. Sigrist has been confining herself only to paintings.

MOTHER LOVE

Dear Miss Dix: In an argument with a friend the other evening I contended that the greatest and strongest love of all was the love of a mother for her child, but he thought that the greatest love is that which exists between husbands and wives. What do you think? VIRGINIA.

Answer: I agree with you that there is no love so great as that of a mother for her child. It endures all things and forgives all things. Plenty of husbands and wives quarrel and part over trifles. Divorce is common. But it is a rare thing for a mother to forsake her children.

Jealousy often kills the love between husbands and wives. They cannot bear to see the one they love care more for another than they do for them. Also, love between men and women does not often survive absence, separation, the forming of new interests, as we have had recently proved to us by the thousands of divorce cases that the war has caused.

But millions of mothers love their children so much better than they do themselves that they willingly give them up to the wife or husband who will take the first place in the son's or daughter's heart.

ONLY REAL FRIEND

It is a common thing to see mothers pouring out their devotion unstintingly on selfish sons and daughters who do not give them a word of appreciation or thanks. We see mothers going shabby that their children may have fine clothes. We see old women working to support trifling sons and daughters. We see mothers waiting and watching through the years for the return of the prodigals and enfolding them in their arms when they come back, no matter how sin-stained they are.

They tell you at every penitentiary that few wives wait at the gate to welcome the prisoner who has served his sentence, but that there are long lines of mothers standing there, patiently waiting for the child whose disgrace makes no difference in their love.

The greatest love in the world is mother love. It knows all. It forgives all. It endures all.

She Dreams of Furs!

Purported Plan Of Communists In France Issued

PARIS (Reuter)—What purported to be a Communist plan of action in the event of civil war in France was published here Saturday by the evening newspaper L'Intransigeant, which asserted the plan had been circulated by Communist Party headquarters to all Communist federations.

The plan, existence of which was neither confirmed nor denied by Communist Party headquarters, contained the following main points, L'Intransigeant said:

1. Completely isolating Paris through railway and postal strikes.

2. Cutting off the south of France and linking up in that zone with Italian Communists.

3. Stirring up trouble in the northern mining regions to halt coa production and facilitate arms smuggling from Belgium.

4. Making certain French cities—Marseille, Lyon, Limoges, Poitiers, Bordeaux and Toulouse—the centres of the Communist rebellion.

5. Aligning "shock troops" specialized in direct action and who would also act on the more hesitating elements of the party.

Turkey Winners At Gorge Vale Course

In the two-ball mixed foursome competition for turkeys held at the Gorge Vale Golf Club, Mrs. J. Davis and J. Pinniger were the winners with a net 79. Mrs. B. Patterson and H. Pigot finished second with 80½ and Miss M. Comerford and J. Merriman third with 82½.

The turkey tombstone competition was won by Al Tregellas with D. W. Hosmer runner-up.

Last Of The Jitney Men

Frank Grimes, a familiar figure to Victorians for 11 yearrs.

When Frank Grimes reached the intersection of Quadra Street and Tolmie Saturday night, jitney service was a thing of the past for Victorians.

Once a business engaged in by many, jitney service almost disappeared when streetcar and bus systems were introduced into most urban districts. Most jitney men entered the taxi business when company transportation systems came into being. Only a few remained in competition with the larger vehicle systems. They have vanished from the roadways one by one — Mr. Grimes being the last to go.

Born in England, Mr. Grimes came to Canada at an early age with his parents. He worked for many years on a Saskatchewan farm and then came to the coast where he set himself up in business on a chicken ranch. After one year on the poultry farm, he bought his first jitney and started serving residents of the Quadra district. In his own words, he has "been going ever since."

Mr. Grimes has had two cars since he started his service June 1, 1936. The first a Ford V8 with a seven-passenger Hudson body, was used for the first 10 years and traveled over 425,000 miles on the route. The car in use today, a seven-passenger custom-built Dodge, has gone 45,000 miles. If these two totals are added, it can be seen Mr. Grimes has driven 470,000 miles over his route from Fort and Douglas to the city limits at Quadra and Tolmie.

During the 11 years he has served the Quadra Street residents, Mr. Grimes has turned out every day in every type of weather and has been behind schedule only twice—both times the cause was car trouble. He has never had an accident.

Mr. Grimes has at times been the only regular transportation service in operation—excepting taxis. When the B.C. Electric and Vancouver Island Coach Lines drivers were on strike together about two years ago, Mr. Grimes was called upon to carry 400 persons in one day. He carried 208 passengers in one afternoon during the same strike.

"I sure had a hectic time during that strike," the jitney man recalls. "I just had to lay the law down to stop the people from piling on top of one another. Why, they even used to grab the doors and try to get in before I had time to stop."

Mr. Grimes makes 28 round trips from the city limits to the downtown business district every day—a total distance of 120 miles. He starts at 7.30 in the morning and finishes at 5.45. He provides a 15-minute service in the morning from 7.30 until 9, a half-hourly service from 9 until 4, and a 15-minute service from 4 until he finishes.

Many of the people in the district rely on Mr. Grimes' service entirely during the daytime, although buses run over the route also. There are about 50 persons who rely on Mr. Grimes to get to work on time.

"Most of my passengers are the same people I carried when I first started 11 years ago," Mr. Grimes said. "I certainly feel funny about leaving them."

From comment made by passengers in the jitney Saturday the passengers are also going to feel badly about losing the service of Mr. Grimes.

Typical of the conservations in the car today was this one:

"Good morning, Mrs. Brown."

"Good morning, Mr. Grimes, I certainly am sorry to hear that you're leaving us after all these years."

Miss M. Nicholson, a regular passenger of the jitney, summed up the feeling of the majority by saying: "Rain or shine, Mr. Grimes was always on time. He has provided us with a wonderful service."

With the new transportation franchise, Mr. Grimes has sold out his business. Asked if he had any immediate plans, he replied, "I don't know just what I'll do—guess maybe I'll take a couple of weeks' holiday—I haven't had one for 11 years."

Papal Encyclical Pleads For Unity

VATICAN CITY (AP)—L'Osservatore Romano devoted three pages Saturday to an encyclical completed Nov. 20 by Pope Pius. The encyclical, titled "Mediator Dei," says:

"Let, therefore, all Christians hear with docility the voice of the common father, who ardently desires that all, intimately united with him, approach the altar of God professing the same faith, obeying the same laws, participating in the same sacrifice with only one understanding and one will. The honor due to God asks it; the needs of the present time make it necessary.

"In fact, after a long and cruel war has divided peoples with rivalries and massacres, men of good will are exerting themselves in the best maner possible to again lead all to concord."

could this be YOU?

"No! You can't have the Johnson boy over! There's enough noise around here with you two".

"Well . . . it's about time you got my order here. What've you been doing all afternoon? Playing marbles?"

"Yes—it's hash again! And the way I'm feeling, you're lucky to get any dinner. If you hadn't slept for nights, you wouldn't want to fuss either!"

"You'll all drive me crazy yet! I don't know what's the matter with me—things never used to bother me like this!"

Does it sound like you? Well—perhaps you're one of those people who can't stand the caffein in tea or coffee. Perhaps you should be drinking Postum instead. It's a grand drink! From the very first sip, you'll love its rich, heart-warming flavor. Not like tea, not like coffee, just a mellow richness all its own.

Best of all, you can drink Postum any hour of the day—enjoy as much as you like, as strong as you like, and not miss a wink of your beauty sleep! Because Postum contains no caffein, nor any other drug—can't affect heart or nerves or digestion.

So easy to fix—you make Postum right in the cup, just by adding hot milk or boiling water. And penny-wise housewives are glad that Postum costs less than 1¢ per serving. Try Postum—you'll love it!

Ceilings On Fruit, Vegetables Till 1948 Pack Arrives

OTTAWA (CP)—The expectation here is that the recently imposed price ceilings on the more important varieties of canned fruits and vegetables will remain in force until the new pack comes on the market sometime next summer or fall.

This also would apply for the wholesalers' and retailers' mark-ups being put back on fresh fruits and vegetables and canned fruit juices.

It is known that the government advised the canning companies this summer that price ceilings would be removed when this year's pack came to market. Now that the controls have been given effect again, it is not considered likely they can be lifted until the 1948 pack appears.

This does not necessarily mean, however, that the ceilings will be removed in one order. The harvesting seasons for fruits and vegetables vary from early summer to late September and the packs of each variety consequently reach the market at different times.

Thus, it is likely the removal of ceilings will come at various dates timed to meet the appearance of the new pack.

DOLLAR-SAVING

Considerable speculation also is arising as to the probable date for removal of the import restrictions and outright prohibitions announced recently under the government's dollar-saving program.

It has been noted that quota schedules being drawn up under the program have March 31, 1948, as their expiry date, thus leading to suggestions that the restrictions would be short-term in character. However, official sources have explained that date is used only because it marks the end of the country's fiscal year.

Basically, the life of the restrictions, which are aimed at conserving Canada's dwindling supply of U.S. dollars, depends on external rather than internal developments. If, for example, an increased flow of U.S. currency comes to Canada through external purchases under the Marshall aid-to-Europe plan it is possible the controls may disappear in short order.

Inflation Hits Famous Refuge

VANCOUVER (CP) — The tropical island of Tahiti—once famed as a refuge from civilization's economic ills—is an expensive place to "escape" to today. It has been hit by inflation.

Officers of the ship Waikawa reported on their arrival here from Tahiti that it now costs $30 a day, instead of a month, to live there.

Bays Register Fourth Successive Rugby Win

Bert Buller's J.B.A.A. rugby squad, defending champions of the senior circuit, kept their undefeated record intact on Saturday afternoon as they whipped a stubborn Canadian Scottish fifteen, 8 to 0, for their fourth consecutive victory of the season and the first-half title.

Scottish were a vastly improved aggregation from the team that suffered a 29 to 3 defeat from the Bays earlier in the season and but for a couple of bad breaks might have upset the high-flying winners.

Addition of Jack Stevens and Bill Van Druten to the soldiers makes the forward wall one of the strongest in the three-team loop. Don McNeil, speedy intermediate player, turned in a fine game for the losers on the three-quarter line.

Bays struck for all their points in the first half of the titlt. Frank Gower counted the first try when he scooped up a loose ball about 30 yards from the line and raced over to plant the leather between the posts. Jim McKeachie had started the scoring play when he tossed a long lineout to Dick Chungranes who ran 20 yards before passing to Fred Ranson who in turn picked up an additional 10 yards before being tackled. The alert Gower then came into the picture, catching the Scottish defence napping. Tom McKeachie converted.

Jim McKeachie scored the second and final try for the winners a few minutes later following a dribbling movement by the forwards. John Ciceri booted the ball over the line near the flag, where McKeachie fell on it. The conversion attempted by brother Tom was wide.

Scottish had a large share of the play in the second half and came close to pay dirt on several occasions with Harry Olsen being the main factor in their drive. Feature of this half was the fine kicking of fullback Tom McKeachie, who continually kept the soldiers at bay with some well-directed punts.

R.C.N.-R.C.A.F. cadets scored an impressive 36 to 3 victory over an augmented J.B.A.A. fifteen in an intermediate match on the lower field. Winners wound up in second place in the first half standings.

Tamowski was the star of the game for the cadets as he racked up 15 points on three tries and a like number of conversions. Trebell with two major scores, Knox, Balson, Plant, Miles and Craswell, each with one try, accounted for other scores. Sylvester scored for the Bays. Half-time score was 12 to 0.

The R.C.N.-R.C.A.F. third fifteen registered a 16 to 3 victory over University School in an exhibition match. Cadets led 8 to 0 at the half.

In turkey competitions held at the Uplands Golf Club over the week-end the winners follow: P. J. Ferguson, J. Sparks, F. Scroggs, F. Heath, F. R. Ransom and G. K. Verley.

Longden Increases Lead In Jockey Race

AGUA CALIENTE, Mex. (AP)—Jockey Johnny Longden, formerly of Taber, Alta., America's leading race rider, brought in two winners at Hipodromo de Tijuana Sunday to increase his lead to nine over Steve Brooks in the national 1947 jockey standings. Longden has 293 winners and Brooks 284.

Longden accepted mounts in the first nine races yesterday, but after winning the first two with Betuf at $3.80 and Sonoita at $10.40, he ran into a streak of bad luck which limited him to two seconds and a third.

Coast Loop Gets Cold Reception In Major Status Bid

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Baseball opened its winter meetings Sunday, three days before the National Association convention starts, with a series of preliminary sessions designed to clarify the Pacific Coast League's big-league ambitions.

In five minutes the American Association tossed cold water on the coast's proposal for a special major-minor status, turning down its resolution by a unanimous 8 to 0 vote.

President Frank Lane of the association explained his league's action in forceful language as he said: "Why don't they quit trying to kid everybody else including themselves? They had a good enough season, why not leave well enough alone? Under their proposal they'd be neither fish nor fowl."

Clarence Rowland, president of the Pacific Coast League, called a special session of his league yesterday and then went into a huddle with George Trautman, president of the National Association.

NOT GOING OUTLAW

"We are not trying to force this thing," Rowland said. "We have no intention of turning outlaw if this is refused. Our big fight will come with the majors."

The Coast League is asking the right to be called the Pacific Coast Major League, still remaining a part of the minor league organization. It would be under the direct jurisdiction of Commissioner A. B. Chandler and the major league executive council.

This special major-minor status would be created for a five-year period subject to cancelation, if and when full major league status should be awarded. In the meantime the Coast League asks that the draft price of its players be increased from $10,000 to $25,000 and six years' service required.

Table Tennis Stars Compete For Club Titles This Week

The 14th annual club championships of the Victoria Table Tennis Association will be held in the north ballroom of the Crystal Garden Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week.

Stan Ngai, brilliant young Chinese star, will be defending the men's singles title. Outstanding contenders entered in the senior division include Will Browne-Cave and Ed Ngai, brother of champion Stan. Eric Walker and Eric Goodwin are also entered.

Heading the strong entry list in the women's section are Joy Payne and Nancy Craig. Ruth Craig will not defend her title. Browne-Cave and Ab Wells are favored for the men's doubles crown.

Big Three Spark 'Y' Hoopers To Victory

The powerful Y.M.C.A. cage club took over sole occupancy of first place in the senior A circuit Saturday night by taking the measure of K.V.'s, 39 to 30, in a bitterly fought hoop fixture that was the feature of a three-game card.

Alcos defeated Esquimalt A.A., 34 to 20, in a senior B tilt and Chinese Students squeezed by Esquimalt, 15 to 12, in a junior boys' contest.

The big three of the "Y" squad, Johnny Clark, Busher Jackson and Rookie Wright, once again took scoring honors for the red and white clad hoopers as they chalked up their fourth straight league victory.

Clark racked up 11 points, Wright 10 and Jackson nine. Fred Ranson paced the losers with 10 points.

"Y" took the lead in the low scoring first quarter to go ahead 8 to 4. Winners increased the margin to 16 to 10 at the breather. K.V.'s came through with a better brand of ball in the third period and held the Y.M.C.A. on even terms, each squad notching 11 points. Clark with eight points was the big gun for the winners in this period.

JOYCE TOP SCORER

Tommy Joyce sparked Alcos to victory in the senior B contest as he hit the hoop for 16 pints. Alcos led 10 to 6 at the quarter and 14 to 10 at the half.

In the low-scoring preliminary Chinese Students led from start to finish. Winners were ahead 7 to 3 at the half and 9 to 6 at the third canto.

Teams and scorers follow:

Ferguson replaces Alex McKeachie who resigned from the position because of pressure of business. McKeachie, however, will remain with club in an advisory capacity.

The Vets' new mentor will take over his duties Saturday night when the club plays K.V.'s in a league fixture at the High School gym.

Calgary Stampeders Defeat Lethbridge

CALGARY (CP)—Spotting the opposition one goal in the opening period, Calgary Stampeders Saturday night roared back in the middle session to defeat Lethbridge Maple Leafs 5 to 2 in a Western Canada Senior Hockey League game before 5,200 fans.

The victory put Calgary only two points behind the leading Regina Pats with Stampeders having two games in hand.

Barbara Ann Scott Receives Apology

OTTAWA (CP)—Barbara Ann Scott, world's figure skating champion, Saturday made public a letter from Arnold Gerschwiler, Swiss figure skating instructor, clarifying his attitude towards her and apologizing for and dissociating himself from remarks made by his brother, Jacob, in an interview last Nov. 6.

In the interview, Jacob Gerschwiler said the Ottawa skater was "the weakest figure skater to my mind we have had to hold the world's championship in many years."

"I dissociate myself from my brother's statements in every way," Arnold wrote in the letter. "We never agree over these things, and most unfortunately for me, I am always classed with him in whatever he says, as in this article."

Three Major Clubs In U.S. Football Undefeated, Untied

NEW YORK (AP)—President Truman and 102,000 fans thrilled to Army's fourth straight victory over Navy Saturday at Philadelphia, 21 to 0, while in other feature games of the waning 1947 United States college football season, three conference championships were decided and the number of undefeated-untied major teams shrunk to three.

Southern Methodist won the Southwest Conference title by a half-game margin, but tumbled from undefeated-untied status by rescuing a 19 to 19 tie with Texas Christian in the final 20 seconds of play.

Mississippi clinched the Southeastern Conference title with a 33 to 14 victory over Mississippi State.

The Border Conference title was decided when Texas Tech upset favored Hardin-Simmons Cowboys, 14 to 6, to win automatically a bid to the Sun Bowl at El Paso, Tex., New Year's Day.

HAVE BOWL DATES

Texas Christian will play Mississippi in the Delta Bowl at Memphis Jan. 1, while the Methodists will play undefeated-untied Penn State in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas.

The Southern Methodist deadlock left only Penn State, Notre Dame and Michigan as major unbeaten-untied teams. Michigan is through until its Rose Bowl engagement with Southern California Jan. 1, while Notre Dame tangles with undefeated but once-tied Southern Cal at Los Angeles Saturday.

Oregon State won its first game from Nebraska in six attempts as Dick Gray threw three touchdown passes to give the Pacific Coast Conference eleven a 27 to 6 victory in an intersectional affair at Lincoln, Neb.

In a night game Alabama's Sugar Bowl team, after a shaky start, came back to defeat the University of Miami Hurricanes, 21 to 6.

McGee's Goal Gives Eagles Upset Soccer Win Over Heaney's

A goal by Dennis McGee in the first minute of the game yesterday afternoon gave Eagles an upset win over the hitherto undefeated Heaney's eleven in a division one juvenile soccer match at Beacon Hill Park.

Handy, netminder for the birdmen, turned in a sparkling performance. He saved on a penalty shot in the first half and then rose to great heights in the second half as he turned aside every sortie of the losers.

Ron Pearce of Eagles was one of the outstanding players on the field with Walker, Hill and Robb being the pick of Heaney's.

The scheduled game between Esquimalt and Marigold was canceled.

In games Saturday, Jubilee Pharmacy defeated Esquimalt, 5 to 3; Veterans of France bested Quarter Cab, 5 to 1; Pacific Meat blanked Rangers, 4 to 0, and Y.M.C.A. shut out Burnside, 6 to 0.

BOROTRA BEATEN

COPENHAGEN (Reuter) — Jack Harper of Australia Sunday defeated Jean Borotra, 3-6, 5-7, 11-9, 6-3, 6-4, in the men's final of the international lawn tennis tournament here. This win followed Saturday's doubles success by Harper and Johan Haanes of Norway against Borotra and Jacquets Brugnon, 6-3, 7-5, 3-6, 6-3.

St. Louis Browns Seek More Gold By Additional Sales

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — St. Louis Browns, richer by $425,000 following four trades, sought more gold today, dangling such tasty bait as catcher Jake Early and outfielder Jeff Heath, a native of Fort William, Ont.

Among the first to arrive for the annual minor league baseball convention, which gets under way Wednesday, The St. Louis delegation made it plain that others of last season's squad which finished last in the American League race are ticketed to follow Vern Stephens, Jack Kramer and others involved in recent trades.

Although main convention sessions will not start until Wednesday, the International League will meet today. On its agenda was expected to be the Pacific Coast League's proposal for a special major-minor status.

Leading Seattle Ice Squad Nips Vancouver Canucks

Tight defensive hockey held down the score but Seattle's Ironmen added No. 4 to their current Pacific Coast Hockey League winning streak last night with a 2 to 1 decision over Vancouver Canucks.

Seattle goalie Ron Pickel slapped out 20 Canuck shots while Vancouver's Les Colvin barricaded against 18 Ironmen efforts.

In the only other league game scheduled the San Diego Skyhawks edged out the Fresno Falcons 5 to 4. No contests are scheduled tonight.

The encounter with Vancouver was the lowest scoring game of the year for the Seattle six. The Ironmen clinched it in 13.31 of the third period, Red Tilson slapping in a pass from Dutch Evers to break a 1 to 1 deadlock set up when both clubs scored in the second.

The San Diego-Fresno game was enlivened by a second period brawl. Chuck McCullouch, Fresno wingman, and Skyhawk Morris Lallo exchanged blows with Fresno coach Bob Gracie and San Diego defenceman Joe Desson joining in. At the height of the fight the Fresno players emptied the players' box and were assessed a 10-minute misconduct penalty by Doc Prentice.

Seek N.H.L. Franchise For Los Angeles

TORONTO (CP) — The Globe and Mail said in a sports page story today that two Los Angeles sportsmen, Stanley Murphy and William Vaughan, conferred in Montreal Sunday with Clarence Campbell, president of the National Hockey League, with a view to Los Angeles eventually gaining a franchise in the N.H.L. The two represent a Los Angeles organization which plans a war memorial auditorium seating some 25,000 for hockey games.

The N.H.L. head told the Globe by telephone that "Murphy and Vaughan wish their organization eventually to be included in the N.H.L., but whether it can be worked out is an entirely different matter. They told me that they have several million dollars already established towards the building project."

Campbell added "there was nothing definite in our talks." He understood the building project could not be completed before 1951.

Aces, Esquimalt In Senior B Hoop Tilt

Brentwood Aces and Esquimalt will meet in a senior B hoop tilt at the High School gym tonight at 9 in the top attraction of the three-game eard.

Canadian Legion midgets and K.V. Lions will open proceedings at 7 with First United playing Elks in an Intermediate B boys' game at 7.45.

Rangers Whip Hawks; Two Other Games Ties

Except at Chicago goals were scarce as hen's teeth in the National Hockey League's four week-end games and the only team making definite progress was Toronto Maple Leafs, now second to Detroit Red Wings by a slim one-point margin.

Toronto defeated Montreal Canadiens 3 to 1 Saturday night and then split a scoreless tie at Boston Sunday. Canadiens and Detroit also tied, 1 to 1, while New York Rangers defeated Chicago 6 to 2 in the third Sunday encounter.

Result is that Detroit are hanging on the top rung with a half-game advantage over Toronto, and Boston third a full game behind. Montreal are a game behind Boston and have a three-point edge over Rangers.

Bruins suffered the loss through injuries of forward Milt Schmidt and defenceman Murray Henderson in the third period Sunday.

Goalie Jim Henry, replacing the injured Chuck Rayner, earned a large share of the credit for Rangers' victory at Chicago.

Don Raleigh, the great rookie from Winnipeg, scored New York's first goal, only to have Red Hamill match it five minutes later, but Port Arthur's Edgar Laprade gave New York a 2 to 1 edge and they never looked back.

In the tie game at Detroit Pete Moreck collared a pass and scored from 10 feet out to give the Wings a 1 to 0 lead in the first period. The second frame was less than a minute old when Harmon fired from the blue line on a screened shot that scored the tie.

McFadden-Richard Tied For Lead In Major Ice Scoring

It was strictly a goaltenders' week-end as National Hockey League marksmen could only find the range for 14 goals in four games.

Jimmy McFadden, Detroit's crack sophomore wingman, earned himself an assist to move into a first-place tie with Maurice Richard of Montreal with 21 points. Doug Bentley of Chicago also picked an assist to move into a seventh-place tie with Canadiens' Toe Blake as all other scoring leaders went pointless.

Extend Entry Date For Winter Olympics

ZURICH (AP)—The organizing committee of the 1948 Olympic Winter Games at St. Moritz decided at a meeting here Sunday to extend the entry deadline as the result of mail delays caused by the French strike.

Entries from competing organizations were due by yesterday, but the committee postponed the deadline to Dec. 13.

Dr. Fritz Kraatz of Zurich, president of the International Ice Hockey Federation, said the committee, at a meeting to begin in St. Moritz Dec. 13 would "without a doubt" recognize the Amateur Hockey Association as qualified to represent the United States, despite objections by the American Olympic Committee.

Disallowed Touch Cost Winnipeg Title

TORONTO (CP) — If there's anything closer than a hair's breadth, then that's the way to describe the margin by which Toronto Argonauts reigned today as monarchs of the Canadian football world.

Argos came out on top 10 to 9 here Saturday over Winnipeg Blue Bombers in one of the most sesnsational contests in the 21 years of east-west play. To triumph they produced two single points in the last 90 seconds of play.

As a game it had everything. Argos had been expected to walk away with victory; in fact, they had been installed as 5 to 1 favorites. Instead, the Scullers found themselves pushed around for 30 minutes of the fray. But they bounced back like champions to walk off the field with their third successive Dominion title.

Loose-jointed Joe Krol, the man they call Mr. Football, blasted the Bomber hopes when he hoisted a long ball that bounced over the goal line and out of touch on the last play of the game. The final whistle sounded as the ball soared through the air.

Bombers, the team that supposedly didn't have a chance, led 9 to 1 at half-time. And in the third quarter they scored a touchdown that probably would have assured them of victory, only to have the play called illegal by the officials.

Johnny Reagan, who took a forward pass from Bob Sandberg, insisted stoutly that he had been over the line of scrimmage when he gathered in the ball and romped 32 yards for the score. The officials maintained just as determinedly that it hadn't been a legal play. At any rate, Bombers felt that it was on that play they had lost the game.

"I'd bet my life I was over the line of scrimmage on the play," said Reagan, gangling negro who moved to Bombers from Montana State. That was his reply when Sandberg asked: "Did you think you were over the scrimmage line when you took the ball, Johnny?"

Reagan said he was up behind the line when the play started off, that he moved forward to block out a man and found himself in the clear.

"I turned around to see what was going on in our backfield and the ball came to me. I don't possibly see how I could have failed to have gone past the line of scrimmage. I'm certain I was well over."

That was one heartbreaking moment for Bombers and their small band of supporters among the more than 19,000 witnesses of the contest, since the touchdown would have given them a 14 to 7 margin, with an extra point thrown in if the convert was good. Nobody in the stands doubted it would have wrapped up a Winnipeg victory.

But the crucial play of the game came with only seconds remaining when burly Sandberg, the outstanding man on the field, elected to try for yards on third down from Winnipeg's 33-yard line. The Argonaut front-wall held; the Scullers got possession and Krol booted the game-winning single.

Sandberg, who ripped the Argos' line time and again through the first half in sparking a 70-yard drive for a touchdown, said after the game he made the gamble for a first down because he thought there was three minutes left to play. He felt that if Bombers could hold the ball they might be able to march into position to kick a point for victory.

Coach Jack West backed up the strategy of his signals caller, terming the play "purely a gamble that lost."

Aces Down Oak Bay To Tie Thistles For League Lead

Brentwood Aces defeated Oak Bay, 5 to 1, in an intermediate soccer match Saturday afternoon to jump into a first-place tie with the Saanich Thistles for the loop leadership.

In the other scheduled match Navy turned back the winless Saanich Indians, 3 to 2, to stay close on the heels of the leaders.

Results of the games give Thistles and Aces nine points with Navy one point back of the leaders. Oak Bay are in fourth place with five points with Indians trailing with one lone tie to their credit.

Moreton and J. Cooper scored for Navy and Indians respectively in the first half of their match as teams reached the intermission tied at 1 to 1. A. Henry gave Indians the lead in the early moments of the second half but Moreton came back with his second marker to knot the count. Wolley scored the winning marker for the sailors about five minutes from time.

Esquimalt, Wests Remain In Race For Soccer Title

Race for first-half honors in the first division of the Victoria and District Football League was narrowed down to Esquimalt and Victoria West, Saturday, when the latter came up with a surprise 5 to 1 victory over Oak Bay.

Esquimalt and Wests meet in the final game of the first-half schedule, with the former needing only a tie to cinch the honors. A victory for the Wests would give them the championship of the first half by a single point. Canadian Legion and Oak Bay have completed their first-half schedule and are out of the running.

Sunday's scheduled exhibition game between Esuiqmalt and the Legion, in aid of the Sadler fund, was postponed on account of weather and wet grounds.

DALLIMORE PLAYS WELL

Presenting a changed line-up, the Wests turned in their best performance of the season to whip the Bays. Speedy Alec Dallimore donned his strip for the first time and was a tower of strength to the greenshirts at outside left. Chuck Restall returned to the centre-forward position and also helped give the forward line additional punch. Billy Hope moved back form the front line to centre-half and played a good game.

Pair of goals by diminutive Roy Erickson moved the Wests in front. Centre-forward Stan Wiseman punched home the Bays' only goal but, before half-time, Restall had made it 3 to 1. In the second half Restall and Dallimore registered the final two counters for the greenshirts.

McColl, Painter Win At 20th Hole

Billy McColl and Vic Painter, Colwood, retained the city golf buttons over their home course yesterday, with a win at the 20th hole over Tony Thistle and Alex Briggs of the Uplands.

Thistle and Briggs were 1 up at the 17th but lost the 18th to force the match into extra holes. After the 19th was halved the cup holders won the match on the second extra hole.

Colin Rutherford and Alan Taylor of the Victoria club will be the next challengers.

Dick Birch Wins Badminton Title In Montreal Meet

MONTREAL (CP) — Dick Birch of Toronto Sunday defeated Gordie Simpson of Montreal, 15-2, 15-9, in the men's singles final of the third annual international invitation badminton tournament here sponsored by the Montreal Amateur Athletic Association.

Ethel Marshall of Buffalo, N.Y., retained the women's singles title by defeating Mrs. Patsy Stephens of Baltimore, Md., in the final, 11-3, 12-10.

In the men's doubles final Carl Loveday of Montclair, N.J., and Clint Stephens of Baltimore paired to win from Andy and Gordie Simpson of Montreal, 15-8, 15-9.

Mrs. Evelyn Roberts of Toronto and Mrs. Stephens took the women's doubles final from Beatrice Massman of Buffalo and Miss Marshall, 7-15, 15-10, 15-11.

The mixed doubles final was won by Mr. and Mrs. Stephens from Dick Birch and Mrs. Roberts, 15-10, 15-9.

Back of HOCKEY VICTORIES

HOCKEY equipment really "takes a beating" in the "hot" incidents of every game of big time hockey. Fast skating, instant turns, collisions, spills and immediate stops impose terrific strains on skates and shoes.

The failure of a skate or shoe may cost the game, or the trophy, so championship players use C.C.M. Matched Sets and take no chances.

The Toronto Maple Leafs won the world's Professional Championship, the "Stanley Cup", with C.C.M. Matched Skating Sets on every player.

The Montreal Royals won the Canadian Senior Amateur Championship, the "Allan Cup", with C.C.M. Matched Skating Sets on every player, and all players used C.C.M. Laminated Hockey Sticks.

The St. Michael's College "Majors"—Toronto, won the Canadian Junior Amateur Championship, the "Memorial Cup", with C.C.M. Matched Skating Sets on every player.

And so goes the story of amateur and professional hockey in Canada and the United States—actual check shows over 95% of the players used C.C.M.'s.

In selecting hockey equipment for yourself or others be guided by the preference of the champions and choose C.C.M. Matched Skating Sets and C.C.M. Laminated Hockey Sticks.

'Keep City Clean' Drive Brings Charge

A plea of not guilty was entered this morning by a Douglas Street storekeeper in city police court to a charge of unlawfully disposing of litter and rubbish from the sidewalk onto the street, contrary to the city by-law.

The case was renmanded to Thursday for trial.

This is the first move by the police in this connection following representations made by a delegation from the Chamber of Commerce, headed by Thomas Denny, to the Victoria Board of Police Commissioners earlier in the year to enforce the regulations against disposing of sidewalk sweepings into the roadways of the downtown shopping district.

Following this interview with the commissioners a campaign got under way with a slogan: "This is your city — keep it clean!" Mr. Denny spoke of minor dust storms being created by afternoon winds from refuse pushed into the gutters.

Grant Tenders For $348,000 City Bonds

The city finance committee today recommended to the City Council that the tender of Ames and Co. for $348,000 city bonds at a quotation of 98.142 be accepted, Ald. Ed. Williams, chairman, said.

Tenders were opened by the finance committee today, and the bonds will cover loans authorized by the ratepayers for the Memorial Arena, the residential street-lighting program, and waterworks.

Fritz Mueller Sorau, who came to Canada several years ago following his liberation from a German concentration camp, is now in Victoria seeking to establish himself in the weaving business. Examples of his work are now on display in the art exhibition being held this week at the Newlyn Studio on Pandora Avenue.

November Land Sales Show Gain

For the first time in 1947, sale of city-owned lands for a month period exceeded the sales for the corresponding month in 1946, Ald. R. A. C. Dewar, chairman of the lands, zoning and housing committee, reported today.

During November there were 71 parcels of land sold for $5,498, compared with 19 parcels sold in November, 1946, for $5,316.50. The 71 parcels sold this November include 60 sold to Wartime Housing.

Total land sales for the year to date were 520 parcels for $189,813, compared with 728 parcels sold during the 11 months of 1946 for $293,930.50.

Total cash receipts of the land department to date are $211,902, compared to $338,204 last year.

Saanich and Sidney Provincial Police are seeking four men believed to be responsible for the robbing of pinball machines at Mary's Barbeque at Sidney and the Black Swan Cafe, Elk Lake, Saturday night. Both machines were robbed while the owners or workers were in the back of the shops, Constable Ed Anderson of the Saanich police reported.

East Route For Island Highway At Duncan Protested To Carson

Works Minister E. C. Carson said today that some opposition had been expressed in Duncan toward the proposed relocation of the Island Highway along the eastern side of the business section of the town and a public meeting at which two proposed locations for the highway would be discussed would probably be held in January.

The provincial works department has surveyed routes on the east and west sides of the town. Mr. Carson's precedessor, Finance Minister Herbert Anscomb, had promised local authorities would be consulted before the selection was finally made.

With the route to be decided shortly, Mr. Carson hopes to have clearing of the new right-of-way started next spring and the construction undertaken during the summer months. Since the new highway will be a relocation, traffic will not be disrupted during the building of the new highway.

Either route will require a new crossing of the Cowichan River, a fairly costly undertaking.

The easterly route, if adopted, would provide a highway following the E. & N. Railway right-of-way into the city, while the westerly route would skirt Duncan probably on high land.

Meanwhile Mr. Carson is preparing for meetings in Seattle next week with officials of the State Highway Commission of Washington and national forest service at which Mr. Carson will seek state approval of B.C.'s plans for leasing a right-of-way for a proposed Victory Road to link Cascade and Paterson.

At present the Southern Trans-Provincial Highway link between Trail and Grand Forks climbs over two mountain passes. It is proposed to build the new highway through U.S. territory to the south where a much better grade can be secured.

Mr. Carson is hopeful that the meetings next week will result in local approval to the province's plans but the final long-term lease will have to be negotiated at the highest diplomatic plane in Washington and Ottawa.

Mr. Carson believes approval of the plan would save the provincial government $2,000,000 or more in the long run.

Good progress has been made this year, Mr. Carson said in surfacing and building highways throughout the province. He said the surfacing project had resulted in building 295 miles, some of which was resurfacing and he hoped more than 300 miles would be hard-surfaced next year.

Protests Come In Against Change In Beacon Hill Trust

Three protests against the plan to change the trust deed at Beacon Hill Park to permit establishment of a "Theatre Under the Stars" have come in to Mayor Percy George and the City Council today.

The Society for the Preservation of Native Plants of B.C., demands assurance that the amount being donated anonymously to build the outdoor theatre will be sufficient to complete it properly, citing the arena as an example of delay and improper handling of civic construction.

They also stressed that once the space is lost it cannot be regained in the park, and suggest that rather than allow the open air theatre to be run as a concession by a commercial outfit, the city operate it, and avoid the "dangerous precedent of breaking the trust."

R. A. Jones, 944 Heywood Avenue, and Eric H. Garman, 936 Heywood Avenue, both wrote Mayor George opposing the establishment of the theatre in Beacon Hill under any circumstances, claiming the park is not large enough for beauty and buildings both.

Indian Fined

In police court this morning an Indian was charged with supplying another Indian with port wine. The Indian charged, William Thomas, pleaded guilty and was fined $50 or in default, one month in jail. His plea that he had a wife and family to support failed to get Magistrate H. C. Hall to change sentence as there is no alterative under the Indian Act.

Animal Diseases Added To Controlled List

Brucellosis, mastitis and warble fly have been classified as infectious and contageous diseases under the Contageous Diseases (Animals) Act by provincial government order-in-council.

Officials of the livestock branch of the agriculture department said today that there was no epidemic of these diseases among cattle, but the order gives the department controls which will be used if and when necessary.

City To Advance Jubilee $30,000

Ald. Ed. Williams, chairman of the finance committee, today recommended that the City Council advance Jubilee Hospital $30,000 against next year's grant, to meet its present financial crisis.

The hospital authorities reported to the city they were running a monthly deficit of $12,000 to $15,000, and also requested financial aid from the provincial government and the other three municipalities of Greater Victoria.

Retail Milk Prices Rise In Nanaimo

Price of milk in Nanaimo rose two cents a quart today.

An order of the one-man Milk Board, providing for the boost to bring milk prices in Nanaimo in line with those of Victoria, has been approved by order in-council of the provincial government.

The boosts follow public hearings by E. C. Carr, milk controller, at Nanaimo, Nov. 13.

Milk in Nanaimo now retails for 17 cents a quart for standard 3.5 butterfat milk and 19 cents for special milk.

Arthur George Strood, 46, 1040 Mount Tolmie Avenue, proprietor of the English Bakery, 724 Fort Street, was found dead by city police at the rear of the premises Sunday morning. Dr. E. C. Hart, coroner, is investigating.

Race Rocks Woman Lauds Blood Donors

Mrs. Thomas Westhead, wife of the Race Rocks lighthouse keeper, who received blood transfusions from the Red Cross blood bank while confined to hospital, has written the Red Cross expressing her appreciation for the service.

"To those who so generously give of their blood to save the lives of others, I want to say 'Thank you' from the bottom of my heart.

"Up until about a month ago I had been quite ill and while in hospital received three blood transfusions which have done wonders in helping me back to better health," her letter says.

"I hope the time will come when I can give, so perhaps save the life of some unknown friend in need, just as I was."

Donald H. Seymour, public relations officer of the Victoria Red Cross, announced today the mobile blood clinic, which calls in Victoria once a month to accept donations for the bank, will be in this city, Dec. 10 and 11. It is hoped that 500 donations will be made to the Red Cross service during the two-day period, Mr. Seymour said.

Sadler Fund Now Over $5,000 Mark

Citizens of Greater Victoria contributed $2,380 in the tag day for the Sadler Rehabilitation Fund held in the city Saturday, Pat Paine, chairman of the financial end of the drive committee said. The fund, which has now passed the $5,000 mark, will close on Friday. In the meantime Mr. Paine reports that plans for the new construction are underway, that volunteer labor and materials are being lined up.

Ask Province Back Water Board Bonds

A delegation from the City Council, headed by Mayor Percy George and Ald. F. N. Cabeldu, chairman of the water board, today interviewed Hon. Herbert Anscomb, minister of finance, to ascertain if the provincial government would be prepared to guarantee the bonds of a Metropolitan Water Board for Greater Victoria, should one be set up.

Also on the delegation were Ed Williams, chairman of the finance committee; D. A. Macdonald, comptroller-treasurer, and A. J. Patton, city solicitor.

On return, the delegation reported that Mr. Anscomb had seemed impressed with their presentation and had promised immediate consideration and an answer within the next few days.

The question of setting up the metropolitan board will be voted on in the city and Saanich at the coming December elections. No decision has been made yet in Oak Bay on holding the referendum.

B.C. Potato Growers Make Fine Showing

M. S. Middleton, district horticulturist, reported B.C. exhibitors at the Royal Winter Fair in Toronto, had done extremely well in view of the competition they faced, particularly in the potato classes where there were 300 entries from all parts of Canada.

First three prizes for Netted Gem potatoes went to farmers in the Pemberton Meadows district, while J. Reid, Merville, took 11th place.

Bert Young, Koksilah, placed third for Montcalm Barley, while he also took 10th for winter wheat, and second for white oats, tribi barley.

'Johnny O'Clock' Showing At Atlas

Ever since the old silent flicker days of 1919, screen writers have been partial to the name "Johnny" in the titles of their stories. Since that year and including the current Dick Powell - Evelyn Keyes starrer, Columbia's "Johnny O'Clock," now playing at the Atlas Theatre, 11 motion pictures have carried that name in the title.

In "Johnny O'Clock," a gripping melodrama, the title is taken from the name of the character Powell plays in the picture, that of a professional gambler named Johnny whose hobby is collecting expensive watches, and therefore is nicknamed "O'Clock."

But writer-director Robert Rossen became curious while shooting "Johnny O'Clock," and asked Columbia's research department to find out just how many other films had been made with "Johnny" in the title.

Exciting Drama Of Nazi Manhunt

Essentially, "Open City" which opens today at the Rio Theatre, is an exciting drama of a Nazi manhunt. The suspense derives in the traps set by the Gestapo to catch Rome's underground leaders. The film is a stirring, deeply moving tale of love and lust, courage and cowardice. It is frank when frankness is demanded, warmly tender when the love story is told, brutal when the brutality of the Nazis must be revealed. The underground is notified of the arrest and lies in wait near the railroad tracks where the lorries bearing the political prisoners will pass. They machine-gun it and most of the prisoners escape.

DOMINION THEATRE

Bisbee, Ariz., is still waiting for Hollywood to rediscover it.

During the filming of Richard Llewellyn's "How Green Was My Valley," which is currently at the Dominion Theatre, this mining town was astounded to receive an order for 10 carloads of slag from the 20th Century-Fox studios. The material was needed to make the film's own mining town look more realistic.

Fijians Manning Ships At V.M.D.

Seventy-five cheerful Fijians, pictured as they breakfasted at Victoria Machinery Depot Co. Ltd. this morning.

Seventy-five Fijian seamen arrived in Victoria this morning to man the Levuka and Lakemba, former Royal Navy maintenance ships, now owned by W. R. Carpenter (Canada) Ltd., and undergoing conversion to passenger-freighters at Victoria Machinery Depot Co. Ltd.

The Fijians, who have previously been employed by the Carpenter Company, arrived in Portland, Ore., aboard another Carpenter ship, the Salamaua; were taken by bus to Seattle and then came up here overnight aboard the Black Ball ferry Chinook.

They will live aboard their two new ships, where quarters were rushed ahead by V.M.D. for their accommodation. Meals will be eaten ashore in the V.M.D. No. 2 yard.

Both the Levuka and Lakemba will be officered by Canadians. The Levuka is expected to be ready to sail from here in February next year, and the Lakemba is expected to follow about a month later.

Both vessels will carry nearly 50 passengers apiece as well as cargo. They will sail between B.C. and Australia, calling also at Honolulu and Suva during their voyages. Each return trip will take about three and one-half months.

They shall have music wherever they go. Ram Semi, wearing lei, and A. J. Andrew brought their guitars along.

'Henry V' Opens On York Screen

"Henry V," starring Laurence Olivier, opens today at the York Theatre.

"Henry V" was selected by his first Shakespearean screen production because it "cries" for the motion picture medium. Shakespeare was aware of the inadequacies of the playhouse when he wrote the chronicle history.

The technicolor version of the play unfolds at the old Globe Theatre in London, and audiences see the production in the atmosphere in which it was first performed in 1600.

Explosive Story Of Love, Intrigue

James M. Cain's explosive story of three people caught in a maelstrom of love, intrigue and murder came to the Oak Bay screen today with the showing of "The Postman Always Rings Twice."

With Lana Turner essaying the most ambitious acting role of her career as the sultry Cora Smith, married to an unattractive, middle-aged man, and reaching a hopeless deadlock when she is irresistibly attracted to a footloose hitch-hiker, M.G.M.'s filmization of the Cain novel pulls no punches in its unfolding of a tense and emotionally penetrating love triangle.

'Arms And The Man' Coming Here

A scene from George Bernard Shaw's comedy, "Arms and the Man," which will be presented by Everyman Theatre at the Victoria College Theatre next Friday and Saturday at 8.15 p.m. The visit of B.C.'s professional repertory company is being sponsored by Victoria College and the Provincial Normal School. Everyman Theatre is starting its second season under the direction of Sydney Risk. During its first season the company gave 128 performances and toured as far east as Winnipeg, taking the theatre to small villages and towns. This year, the company will confine its activities within this province.

"Arms and the Man" is full of wit, satire and comic situations.

The cast consists of Lacey Fisher, Floyd Caza, Berh Gillanders, Alison Cummings, Lillian Carlson and Robert Newton of New York.

$5,500 From Seals To Continue War On Tuberculosis

East will meet west this Christmas in Canada in the continuing fight against tuberculosis with yule mail decorated with T.B. Christmas Seals.

Over $5,500 has been collected from seal sales in the Greater Victoria area this year, but Soroptimist Club members handling the campaign say that many householders have yet to indicate whether they are subscribing to the anti-tuberculosis fight.

Money and cheques made payable to the B.C. Tuberculosis Society should be sent as soon as possible to campaign headquarters, Room 7, 2130 Government Street, where any additional seals desired should be purchased as soon as possible.

Soroptimists remind Victorians that there are few Christmas Seal shopping days left before eastern mailing deadlines. Through their willingness in the past to help "stamp out T.B." with the colorful seals, Victoria citizens have raised more than $40,000 which has all been used locally.

They are again asked this year to share part of their Christmas through purchase of seals in order that T.B. sufferers in the province may also enjoy many Yule seasons. One-third of B.C.'s adults have been X-rayed for tuberculosis to date according to B.C. Tuberculosis Society figures, and much of this has been made possible through public subscription to annual Christmas Seal campaigns.

CAPITOL THEATRE

A blistering exposure of the dangers of bigotry, RKO Radio's gripping new drama, "Crossfire," now at the Capitol Theatre, stars Robert Young, Robert Mitchum and Robert Ryan in the exciting story of a man who is murdered for the sole reason that he belongs to a minority group. Directed by Edward Dmtryk, it is one of the year's most remarkable dramas.

READ OF THE "GREAT IMPROVEMENT" REPORTED BY THIS USER OF LANTIGEN "C"

I've been taking stock of myself and one great improvement since using LANTIGEN "C" is that now after being crippled and sore for so long in my hands and wrists, I used to be afraid to have anything touch them, I can now pick up heavy mats and shake the deuce out of them without any discomfort whatever, and no one knows what a big treat that is, now there is really just my knee that has to sit-up and take notice and that was in such a state as well as my hands, but I'm sure it is loosening up a lot, anyway I'm going to keep on with LANTIGEN "C" until it does and I've a lot of faith for it. I am now on my third bottle and if this letter is of use to you in helping other sufferers to get relief you have my permission to use it.

Yours very sincerely,

Canadians Win Wheat King Title, Top Awards For Other Grains

CHICAGO (CP) — Canadian exhibitors today held most of the top grain awards, including wheat, oats and barley championships at the 48th annual International Livestock Exposition.

Competing against entries from 32 states and three Canadian provinces, S. J. Allsop of Red Deer, Alta., won the coveted "Wheat King" title of North America, deposing Mrs. Amy Kelsey of Erickson, B.C., who was crowned "Wheat Queen" last year and is the only woman ever to win the title.

The 33-year-old Allsop, who has been exhibiting wheat at the exposition since 1932 and was Wheat King in 1934, won it on his sample of Reward variety of hard red spring wheat, judged finest among the 3,000 choice samples in the show. His victory marked the 14th time a Canadian has won the wheat crown during the last 25 years.

Mrs. Kelsey's 1947 entry placed second in the hard red spring wheat class. The Wheat King of 1941, William Miller of Edmonton was third in this class. Miller, who grows his wheat on a city lot, missed in his quest for the 1946 crown when his entries reached Chicago after the deadline.

George Gwyllt of Kelvington, Sask., won the Barley King title after his entry had taken second prize in the six-rowed barley, region one, contest.

The new oats crown went to Alex M. Stewart and son of Ailsa Craig, Ont., with a Beaver variety of early oats. The reserve oats championship went to the Larian variety entry of John Boulton of Albee, Alta.

DUNCAN WOMAN'S SUCCESS

Other winning Canadian entries:

R. P. Robbins, Shaunavon, Sask., first in the durum wheat division, with Albert Robbins, Laura, Sask., second; Tom Corlett, Clairmont, Alta., first in the Alkaline clover class; Mrs. John Hamilton, Duncan, B.C., second in the field of beans, other varieties; Arthur W. Grandfield, Nipawin, Sask., third in the small seeds, Alfalfa.

The new wheat king, who farms 480 acres with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Allsop, said Sunday night he doesn't know yet whether he will go to Chicago to claim his title, won with a sample which weighed 66.5 pounds to the bushel.

Reward, the variety with which he also won his previous crown, was created by the cereals division of the Experimental Farms Service, Dominion Department of Agriculture, and released in 1928. The variety won the Wheat King title in 1929 for Joseph B. Smith of Wolf Creek, Alta., and has been the champion wheat in the event every year since except in 1931, when Durum placed first.

Waler J. Harpel of Crawfordsville, Ind., was crowned corn king.

Library Exhibition Features French Art

Beginning Tuesday and continuing during the week there will be an exhibition of French books in the Public Library. Harold Campbell, assistant superintendent of education, will open the exhibition. The Library attendants, assisted by members of L'Alliance Francaise, will be present to direct the public.

The exhibition will appeal to book livers, teachers and students interested in viewing the fine specimens of art, music, drama, poetry and modern prose. The children's books are specially attractive and beautifully illustrated.

Miss Punderson, director of Shawnigan French Summer Camp, had the books sent from France.

This exhibition, approved and sponsored by the education department, is a sincere attempt on the part of a troubled country to continue a tradition of beautiful products.

A concert party sponsored by the Pro Patria Branch of the Canadian Legion was enjoyed by residents of the Home for Aged and Infirm Men. Artists were Cecil Heaton, Reg Stofer, Ernie Fullerton, Arthur Jackman, and E. Stroble, magician. Refreshments were served following the entertainment and a $10 gift was received from Ernest Brooker to help the home's Christmas party.

NEW YORK (AP)—Professional short covering and other buying, based on the thought that the market was oversold, gave stocks their first average advance today in almost two weeks. The only flaw in the turn-about was the slowness of dealings. The pace slackened appreciably after the opening.

OVER THE FENCE

By W. L. MacTavish

"If you have been watching labor proceedings in the last few months," remarked the Old Timer this morning, "you'll be puzzled to find out what all the shouting was about when Bill 39 was introduced at Victoria.

"They said it was a 'slave labor' law. They said that labor lost all the rights gained through the years. They said it made collective bargaining a farce. And so forth and so on. And some of the Communist leaders, and others, talked about 'resisting it to the death.'

"Well, doesn't it all look pretty much like bunk now? There have been dozens of wage-and-hour disputes peaceably settled under the act, complying with all its provisions. There have been some wildcat strikes, called without complying with the provisions of the act, but generally settled up pretty soon anyway. And there has been the biggest strike of all, the transit strike, where all the provisions of the act were complied with and the men eventually exercised their right to strike—whether wisely or otherwise, they struck, and there was nothing in the law to stop them.

"Maybe the procedure under the act is too complicated, maybe there is too much of a 'cooling-off' stage, maybe it requires amendment in other directions. I don't know. But anyone can see that labor has retained, and is exercising, all its real rights. And that makes a lot of the talk earlier in the year look pretty foolish now."

Canadian Farmers May Need Markets

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian agriculture is approaching the time "when we may be looking for markets rather than trying to supply them, in at least some products," Agriculture Minister Gardiner warned today at the opening meeting of the Dominion-Provincial Agricultural Conference.

However, he told the conference, held annually to set food production targets for the coming year, that the Dominion government has reason to hope the British market will continue to be available to Canadian farmers "on a stabilized basis for some years."

TOONERVILLE TROLLEY

NOW THAT VICTORIA'S transportation troubles are disposed of—we hope—my readers may be interested to learn of a troublesome tram question recently settled in San Francisco in surprising fashion.

When the citizens of that go-ahead city voted, by three to one, to retain their famous cable-cars which have often been declared the most ancient public vehicles in use in any modern city.

Anyone who has ever seen them in action, let alone ridden in them, as I have more than once, will agree that they are the original Toonerville trolleys of the cartoons and the comic strips.

CLINGING CLIENTS

WHEN LAST I SAW THEM I could scarcely believe my eyes, as they passed me going up the steep incline of Powell Street.

It was at the time of the San Francisco conference, when the presence of thousands and thousands of U.S. servicemen on their way to the Pacific enhanced the usual traffic problem.

Not only were the lumbering, creaking old cars full even to standing room limits, but passengers were hanging on outside, to the rails of the open cars, and four deep.

Momentarily I expected them to be swept off by passing traffic as the trolleys groaned and strained at their cables on the long crawl up to the Nob Hill district.

TURNTABLE TERMINUS

BUT, MIRACULOUSLY, EVERYONE arrived safely at the journey's end of the perpendicular peak—for that just about describes the hills of the California city which are traversed by this ancient system.

Even the city terminal of the cable-trams is like something out of the comic strips.

When the car comes down from the heights and reaches the Market Street end of the Powell Street journey, it runs on to a wooden turntable.

This also is so antique that both the conductors and the drivers have to turn it by hand—and the waiting customers usually assist in the process.

PUBLIC PROPERTY

THESE QUAINT, OPEN CABLE-CARS are relics from the days of the horse-drawn trams, and were introduced because no horse could ever draw a car up the city's seven hills.

Today there are only two such lines. One is privately owned, but the Powell Street one is the property of the municipality.

As might be expected, the city authorities recently decided it was time to modernize the Powell Street line, in keeping with the rest of the up-to-date transportation system.

And they not only were armed with facts favoring safer systems, but also fortified by figures showing the uneconomic operation of the cumbersome, ancient vehicles.

UP IN ARMS

BUT THEY DIDN'T COUNT on the overwhelming defence which the people of San Francisco rallied against any assault on this cherished institution.

A doctor's wife started a "Save the Cable-Cars" campaign. It enlisted such widespread support that servicemen and tourists who had visited the city flooded the authorities with letters of protest.

And the women even said it with flowers! For, I see by the San Francisco papers, they distributed gardenia buttonholes to the passengers at the turntable as an inducement and reminder to vote "No."

LESSON FOR VICTORIA?

ON READING THE REPORTS of the campaign and its success, it seemed to me that perhaps Victoria could learn a lesson from it.

Like San Francisco, this city attracts tourists and visitors because it has some things which are different, which lift it out of the rut of the ordinary city.

If that California city can go to such lengths to preserve one of its outmoded but picturesque bits of the past for sentimental reasons—plus tourist-consciousness—perhaps we would do well to take steps to preserve the remnants (but, of course, I don't mean streetcars) of our own city's individuality before it is too late.
